NOTES ON NEWS OF THE DAY.

JOHN C. NEW went for a drive with the President Saturday afternoon, dined and smoked with him later, and took a walk with him before going to bed. The President and Mr. New do not appear to have quarreled.

MR. CLEVELAND is celebrating his 53d birthday to-day by starting on his trip to Cuba. There will be yet four opportunities to run for President before he reaches the age of the elder Harrison when elected. But Democratic Presidents, after having been retired by the people, do not run again.

OMAHA enforced the Sunday law yesterday against the saloons. Every one was shut, and only three arrests for drunkenness were made, against a previous average of thirty. The license business has been taken out of politics by placing it in the hands of the Fire and Police Commission, which is appointed by the Governor.

GEN. TRACY declares that he will permit no man to work in the navy yards who is not an efficient and skillful mechanic. These places, he says, are not to be asylums for the incompetent and worthless. With these declarations for a platform the Postmaster General appears to have committed himself to a clean sweep.

ROBERT G. BURTON, Mormon, has been in hiding three years in Utah for violating the federal laws relating to polygamy. On Saturday he surrendered and appeared before Judge Sanford, who fined him $158, including costs. Mr. Burton now thinks this is a cheap price for three years' self banishment. The Gentiles think so too, and are indignant at Sanford, whose astonishing leniency is attributed to his Democracy.

THE cyclone that traveled up the Atlantic coast last week started eastward after reaching New England, and is supposed to be following the Gulf Stream to Europe. The cyclone which started from the Pacific coast last week spread out from Dakota to Texas, and is not likely to reach the East in a day or two. The double-barreled cyclone that was traveling overland from the Southwest has not been heard from. The Signal Service predicts mild weather.

THE young man captured as the supposed murderer of Snell, the Chicago millionaire, is found to be another person. He was not captured in Manitoba but in California, whither he had gone after being tracked to the former country. Two Chicagoans, accompanied by two detectives, have traveled 800 miles in three weeks in search of the fugitive. The man whom they captured is said to bear a remarkable resemblance to Tascott, but is the son of a wealthy California family. The man-hunters have returned home greatly disappointed.

IT is believed in Ottawa that the American bootleggers have succeeded in buying up enough members of Parliament to defeat the Weldon bill, which provided for the return of the embezzling fugitives to this country. The bill should have come up in the House for second reading last Tuesday, but it did not, and the delay is suspicious. It is known that the bootleggers in Montreal have raised $50,000 and sent to Ottawa and placed it where it will do the most good for the gang. Canada will soon find it necessary to punish her own bootleggers for yielding to the seductive wiles of the thief colonists.

CONGRESSMEN are talking of raising their salaries to $10,000 a year. The resignation of Senator Chase of Rhode Island gave an impetus to the subject. He could no longer afford to labor in Washington for $5,000 a year, and believes that he would have been richer if he had stayed at home and attended to his cotton factory. The country could better afford to pay $10,000 to comparatively poor Senators like Chase Edmunds, Everts, etc., than to permit Donnan Kings like Hearst and the late Mr. Fair to buy their way into the Senate. The "affirmative" of this question has enough argument on its side to ask a respectful hearing. But let all congressmen beware of back-pay grabbing.

FRANK JONES, the big brewer of New Hampshire, has sold his two breweries, located in Portsmouth and Boston, to the English syndicate. The buyers will capitalize the property at $2,100,000, and issue $2,100,000 of first mortgage bonds at 5 per cent and $2,100,000 second mortgage bonds at 7 per cent. Mr. Jones is to remain in charge, and will hold one-third of the stock and bonds. He guarantees the interest on the bonds and dividends amounting to 15 per cent for three years. This arrangement will take Mr. Jones out of politics, and Republican stock in New Hampshire will go up. If Ed. Murphy should sell his brewery in Troy, the Democratic party of New York would break up.

MISSISS. Cleveland, Bayard, Vilas and Dickinson, who are off for Cuba to-day, may be able to do the United States a trifling service by ascertaining the price for which the Island can be bought. The Democrats are in great need of a new state at the South to offset the Republican gains in the Northwest. Mr. Buchanan considered the acquisition of so much political importance before the war that he joined in the famous Ostend Manifesto, which served notice upon Spain that if she refused to sell the island it would be taken from her. The Democratic party soon afterwards gave up the policy of annexation and substituted that of secession. The country wants a very favorable account of Cuba when the distinguished travelers return.

THE report of United States Consul Mason at Marseilles states that the wheat crop of France was 89,274,828 hectoliters in 1888 against 117,729,910 in 1887. The yearly consumption is 120,000,000 hectoliters. Hence the importation to supply the deficiency must be 27,250,488 bushels. A strong agitation has sprung up in France, says the report, in favor of abolishing the tariff duty of 5 francs per quintal on imported wheat. This accords with the American idea of the tariff, which is not laid here upon those kinds of foreign commodities which cannot be raised at home. The United States does not tax tea and coffee, and the Republican party has done its utmost to practically remove the duty on sugar. But the American farmer will please notice that France wants wheat and must buy it from America, as the crop is short all over Europe. The free trade threat that Europe would stop buying bread of us if we did not abolish our tariffs is in little danger of being carried out.

A BOOM FOR THE SABBATH.

We publish elsewhere some extracts concerning Postmaster General Wanamaker and his Sunday school work. The sketch not only furnishes the fact that Mr. Wanamaker lays aside the cares of office and comes home to conduct the great Sunday school founded by him, but brings into clear view the deep religious nature of the man. It also shows that the wonderful tact and knowledge of human nature which has made him the most successful merchant of his time is brought to bear in the conduct of the institution to which he shows the devotion of a father for a beloved child.

Gen. Harrison is also a deeply religious man, a constant church attendant and worshiper, and a laborer in Sunday school work. He has carried his religious principles and practices to Washington. The White House is closed on Sundays, his business letters remain unopened, he goes to church with his family, and his daughter attests that his lifelong practice of family worship is faithfully maintained. Several members of his Cabinet in addition to Mr. Wanamaker are church members and attendants, and share the President's deep and clear religious convictions. There is enough of this element at the head of the government to set a national example of Sunday observance. Politicians seeking for official favors will be the first to feel the effect. Those who spend the Sabbath in Washington are quite likely to make their attendance at church conspicuous. From them the influence will radiate in a thousand directions. And then there are the people who do not mingle in politics, but who will profit by the lesson that men can be successful and honored and great without surrendering their convictions to catch the favor of those who sail Sabbath observance as a violation of "personal liberty," and sneer at religion as fit only for women and children. The chief ruler of the country holds an influence over the people more potent than that of any other man in the nation, and if that influence is against religion it suffices to demoralize a very large element. David B. Hill could not have been re-elected last fall if he had not, by executive acts, built up the Sunday-defying saloon into a great political machine and attracted to it thousands who prefer the Sabbath as it was kept by their fathers, but feel it to be to their interest to be "in the swim."

The new administration is giving a boom to the Sabbath—bringing it back to the affections of the American people. Mr. Wanamaker's example alone has aroused a new interest in the day in Philadelphia, and started thousands to church who had for years either kept the day in an indifferent manner or actually violated the spirit of its observance. We look for good and healthful results in every part of the country from the example now being set by our rulers at Washington. The people will follow them the more gladly because they know that they are right.

TIRED OF THE SOLID SOUTH.

Roger A. Pryor, ex-Confederate General, and a noted Southern fire-eater and free trader in past days, has been talking to the New York Herald concerning the effect of Harrison's administration upon the South. Gen. Pryor was a faithful Democrat and free trade apostle in the late campaign, but it is plain that the election has made an impression upon him. He thinks that if Harrison will conduct his administration upon a protective tariff—he will break up the Solid South and attach a very large proportion of the Southern vote to the Republican party. He sees but two influences operating against this tendency, and these are long association of the people with the Democratic party and the unwillingness of the leaders to surrender their hold upon office.

But Gen. Pryor is convinced that the tariff policy of the Republican party is going to win with the people. "Even in Texas," he says, "where there are no manufacturers, the wool interest demands protection. The mineral resources of Virginia, Alabama, Tennessee and other states also demand protection. Then, too, cotton factories are rapidly springing up in the cotton states. The combined effect of these influences is to make the Southern people the champions of a protective policy." And the only reason, says Gen. Pryor, why the South has remained with the Democratic party in violation of the tariff convictions of the majority, is the determination to keep the educated white classes in control of the governments in that section. He thinks Gen. Harrison intends to treat this race issue in a conservative spirit, and attaches much importance to his ancestral relation with Virginia. The General declared in conclusion that he was still a Democrat and a Southern man in his views of public policy, but "did not believe that the disruption of the Solid South would be of detriment to the Democratic party." Democratic solidarity at the South had made a solid Republican North. For any loss of votes by the breaking up of the Solid South "the Democratic party would be more than indemnified by an accession of votes and power in the North."

The victory is half won when Democratic leaders begin to admit that the Solid South is destined to be broken up. It is much more than half won when these same leaders confess that the breaking up would be a good thing for the South. Gen. Pryor still adheres to the free trade theory, he thinks it a demonstrable doctrine; but he has made the discovery that "other than mere economical interests must operate in the conception of a scheme of public policy." This will certainly fill with disgust our mungwump college professors and other gentlemen of fixed incomes to whom the paramount question is the price of a suit of clothes made from English goods.

HOW ONE GIRL DIED.

Annie Corrie, married, but unsupported by her husband, had earned a miserable living as a concert singer in the low dives of New York. Last night she was engaged to sing in Rudolph Stein's place at 36 First-street. She had not been well for some time, but sang in the same saloon on Saturday night and was kept busy until near daylight yesterday morning. She came back last evening and sang one or two ballads, and, as one of the other women in the place remarked, "tried to appear pleasant." Shortly after 7 o'clock she stepped upon the stage again, sang part of a ballad, tottered and tried to walk from the stage, but fell in a faint, while a stream of blood flowed from her nose and mouth. She was carried up stairs and thumped upon a bed. One of the girls asked Stein to get her a doctor, but he answered, "Oh, let her go to—". She lay on the bed and bled to death without an effort having been made to save her life. Stein hurriedly obtained a permit from Coroner Messemor, who lives near, and had an undertaker's cart before the door in which to send the body away without an inquest, when a policeman saw the cart and entered the place. Stein and his wife were dishing out beer, seven girls were alternately singing on the stage, and a bloated musician was pounding a piano. Stein showed his Coroner's permit to the policeman, and the body was carted away. Her husband was notified by telegraph.

Decency turns with disgust from the poverty that drives women to the dives. But it stands appalled at the poverty that drives them to death. Stein as an employer of wretched women was a despicable creature to be shunned. But as one who drives them to death he will be, or at least deserves to be, punished as a murderer.

MR. WANAMAKER IN SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Not Postmaster General But Superintendent Yesterday.

[Philadelphia correspondence of New York Sun.]

* At 2:30, and not a second later, the orchestra was just in the middle of a pretty bit of comic opera with a rattling jingle to it. Mr. Wanamaker stepped upon the stage. * After he had swept one of his grimaces over the school, he made a signal to the organist, who played a little overture. Mr. Wanamaker then came forward, and Mr. Sweeney leading, with a folded paper for a baton. * All together they sang:

Onward, onward, onward Christian soldier,
Marching, marching, marching, as to war.

After the song there was a long moment of deep silence, and then, in a clear, rich voice, the Postmaster-General exclaimed:

"If God be with us, who can be against us?"

A thousand voices replied, "There shall not any man be able to stand before thee all the days of thy life, as I was with Moses, so I will be with thee; I will not fail thee, nor forsake thee."

Another silence, and then the organ played soft and low, the orchestra joined in slowly, and at a signal the whole school began to sing in beautiful unison. When doing and chanting with the organ, with its chorus, "Nearer, my God, to Thee." The sweet chant dropped off into silence at last, and after a moment the Postmaster-General's ringing voice ejaculated:

"Will God in very deed dwell with men on earth?"

The answer came rumbling from the throats of the male part of the school: "The Lord shall comfort Zion." This was broken up into parts, as the first song had been, and when the infants twittered all alone, "The Lord shall comfort Zion. He will comfort her waste places, and make her like the garden of the Lord," the Postmaster-General walked along the stage to get nearer them, and bending over listened with a rapt look and his deepest hands held down in front of him until it was over. Then he smiled all over his face, and a pretty young woman back in a nook out of sight, who played a little organ to lead the singing of the tots, leaned back in her chair with a relieved look and smiled.

"The little ones sitting from her smile that they had done well, began to laugh and rustle about in infantile self-commendation. The Postmaster-General, who couldn't see the pretty young woman, thought they were smiling at him, and he smiled more and rubbed his hands, whereat everybody was glad, because he was glad, and smiled too, so that the whole situation was very appropriate to the words of the song, which were being tossed back and forth between the gallery of tenor boys and the soprano gallery of girls:

Joy and gladness, joy and gladness
Thanksgiving and the voice of melody.

"On whom don't thou trust?" was the exclamation with which the Postmaster-General punctuated the stillness that followed this song, and it was the girls who answered:

"The Lord also will be a refuge for the oppressed; a refuge in times of trouble, and they that know thy name will put their trust in thee, for thou, Lord, hast not forsaken them that seek thee."

It was the girls, too, who sang with Mr. Sweeney's full band the next song, "Art Thou in Darkness?"

"And who is He that will harm you if ye be followers of that which is good?" cried the Postmaster-General when the girls' voices had died away. Two masses in one of the galleries replied shrilly:

"Because thou hast made the Lord, which is my refuge, even the most high, thy habitation. There shall no evil befall thee, neither shall any plague come nigh thy dwelling. For thou shalt say to thyself in that day, 'I have been in great danger, but I have been saved.'"

"What must I do to be saved?" called out the Postmaster-General, and the little girls in the infant class sang three verses, with a chorus to each verse, that began, "Come with me, the Saviour said," while the rest of the 3,000 people listened and smiled, and the peevish woman at the infant organ seemed weighed down with awful responsibility. The infant boys had to sing an answer, too, and then several different classes in various parts of the building chanted different appropriate verses.

The Postmaster-General assumed a more conversational tone after this. First he asked the school, one gallery and section at a time, "Who attended church this morning?" As a fair show of hands followed the question each time it was repeated, he seemed pleased and exclaimed:

"Ah, a great many, a great many; that's good. Sunday school don't take the place of church."

Then he asked each section in turn who had brought Bibles with them. Every one who had held up the book, and the Postmaster-General seemed pleased again. There was a baby in its mother's arms in one of the galleries, and it held up a book, too.

"Why, even the baby up there has its Bible," exclaimed the Postmaster-General, and added, "Bless its little heart," whereat the mother blushed rosily and petted the infant and fussed over it until it was ready to cry.

"Christ's love," repeated the Postmaster-General, "for the old—no! He loves us all, but especially the young."

Then the golden text, "Suffer little children to come unto me," was read. In our responses, and now we come to Thee as children in our prayers. Receive us; reach out Thy hand to save us, to help us, to lead us along toward that open gate that brings us to eternal summer. Let the same touch that made little children smile and the mother happy come to us now, that there may be a thousand happy homes in this city to-night as the result of this gathering."

The whole prayer was as simple and straightforward as this, and was spoken in a low impressive voice.

"What amount was given last Sabbath, and what for?" asked the Postmaster-General when the prayer was over, and the Treasurer replied that $49.61 had been contributed for the relief of the poor.

"Well, I don't see how many poor people are going to be relieved with $49.61," commented the Postmaster-General, and asked what to-day's collection was for.

"For the tent mission," replied the Secretary. "Well, now, I don't want the collection for the tent mission to be less than $100," said the Postmaster-General, as the collection started around.

To the jingle of dimes and pennies the Postmaster-General read a lot of notes of meetings during the week. "What he he had finished his notices he tapped his bell, the curtains of the stage fell together, curtains dropped before class rooms, sliding partitions slipped into place, and before the audience in the visitors' gallery was on its feet to go the classes were at their work. Even sooner the Postmaster-General had slipped out and across an open space to the main building. Several hundred people were there awaiting him, and hundreds more followed him. A thousand people joined in the opening hymn of the "Superintendent's Bible Class."

It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and soothes the system, softens the bowels, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething, is the best and most reliable remedy of the kind ever offered. It is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is sold by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

Onward, onward, onward Christian soldier,
Marching, marching, marching, as to war.

After the song there was a long moment of deep silence, and then, in a clear, rich voice, the Postmaster-General exclaimed:

"If God be with us, who can be against us?"

A thousand voices replied, "There shall not any man be able to stand before thee all the days of thy life, as I was with Moses, so I will be with thee; I will not fail thee, nor forsake thee."

Another silence, and then the organ played soft and low, the orchestra joined in slowly, and at a signal the whole school began to sing in beautiful unison. When doing and chanting with the organ, with its chorus, "Nearer, my God, to Thee." The sweet chant dropped off into silence at last, and after a moment the Postmaster-General's ringing voice ejaculated:

The answer came rumbling from the throats of the male part of the school: "The Lord shall comfort Zion." This was broken up into parts, as the first song had been, and when the infants twittered all alone, "The Lord shall comfort Zion. He will comfort her waste places, and make her like the garden of the Lord," the Postmaster-General walked along the stage to get nearer them, and bending over listened with a rapt look and his deepest hands held down in front of him until it was over. Then he smiled all over his face, and a pretty young woman back in a nook out of sight, who played a little organ to lead the singing of the tots, leaned back in her chair with a relieved look and smiled.

"The little ones sitting from her smile that they had done well, began to laugh and rustle about in infantile self-commendation. The Postmaster-General, who couldn't see the pretty young woman, thought they were smiling at him, and he smiled more and rubbed his hands, whereat everybody was glad, because he was glad, and smiled too, so that the whole situation was very appropriate to the words of the song, which were being tossed back and forth between the gallery of tenor boys and the soprano gallery of girls:

Thanksgiving and the voice of melody.

"On whom don't thou trust?" was the exclamation with which the Postmaster-General punctuated the stillness that followed this song, and it was the girls who answered:

"The Lord also will be a refuge for the oppressed; a refuge in times of trouble, and they that know thy name will put their trust in thee, for thou, Lord, hast not forsaken them that seek thee."

It was the girls, too, who sang with Mr. Sweeney's full band the next song, "Art Thou in Darkness?"

"And who is He that will harm you if ye be followers of that which is good?" cried the Postmaster-General when the girls' voices had died away. Two masses in one of the galleries replied shrilly:

"Because thou hast made the Lord, which is my refuge, even the most high, thy habitation. There shall no evil befall thee, neither shall any plague come nigh thy dwelling. For thou shalt say to thyself in that day, 'I have been in great danger, but I have been saved.'"

"What must I do to be saved?" called out the Postmaster-General, and the little girls in the infant class sang three verses, with a chorus to each verse, that began, "Come with me, the Saviour said," while the rest of the 3,000 people listened and smiled, and the peevish woman at the infant organ seemed weighed down with awful responsibility. The infant boys had to sing an answer, too, and then several different classes in various parts of the building chanted different appropriate verses.

The Postmaster-General assumed a more conversational tone after this. First he asked the school, one gallery and section at a time, "Who attended church this morning?" As a fair show of hands followed the question each time it was repeated, he seemed pleased and exclaimed:

"Ah, a great many, a great many; that's good. Sunday school don't take the place of church."

Then he asked each section in turn who had brought Bibles with them. Every one who had held up the book, and the Postmaster-General seemed pleased again. There was a baby in its mother's arms in one of the galleries, and it held up a book, too.

"Why, even the baby up there has its Bible," exclaimed the Postmaster-General, and added, "Bless its little heart," whereat the mother blushed rosily and petted the infant and fussed over it until it was ready to cry.

"Christ's love," repeated the Postmaster-General, "for the old—no! He loves us all, but especially the young."

Then the golden text, "Suffer little children to come unto me," was read. In our responses, and now we come to Thee as children in our prayers. Receive us; reach out Thy hand to save us, to help us, to lead us along toward that open gate that brings us to eternal summer. Let the same touch that made little children smile and the mother happy come to us now, that there may be a thousand happy homes in this city to-night as the result of this gathering."

The whole prayer was as simple and

straightforward as this, and was spoken in a low impressive voice.

"What amount was given last Sabbath, and what for?" asked the Postmaster-General when the prayer was over, and the Treasurer replied that $49.61 had been contributed for the relief of the poor.

"Well, I don't see how many poor people are going to be relieved with $49.61," commented the Postmaster-General, and asked what to-day's collection was for.

"For the tent mission," replied the Secretary. "Well, now, I don't want the collection for the tent mission to be less than $100," said the Postmaster-General, as the collection started around.

To the jingle of dimes and pennies the Postmaster-General read a lot of notes of meetings during the week. "What he he had finished his notices he tapped his bell, the curtains of the stage fell together, curtains dropped before class rooms, sliding partitions slipped into place, and before the audience in the visitors' gallery was on its feet to go the classes were at their work. Even sooner the Postmaster-General had slipped out and across an open space to the main building. Several hundred people were there awaiting him, and hundreds more followed him. A thousand people joined in the opening hymn of the "Superintendent's Bible Class."

Myriads of cases of rheumatism and neuralgia are already successfully treated by the remedy Salvation Oil. Price only 25 cents a bottle.

A BOOM FOR THE SABBATH.

We publish elsewhere some extracts concerning Postmaster General Wanamaker and his Sunday school work. The sketch not only furnishes the fact that Mr. Wanamaker lays aside the cares of office and comes home to conduct the great Sunday school founded
by him, but brings into clear view the deep religious nature of the man. It also shows that the wonderful tact and knowledge of human nature which has made him the most successful merchant of his time is brought to bear in the conduct of the institution to which he shows the devotion of a father for a beloved child.

Gen. Harrison is also a deeply religious man, a constant church attendant and worshiper, and a laborer in Sunday school work.

He has carried his religious principles and practices to Washington. The White House is closed on Sundays, his business letters remain unopened, he goes to church with his family, and his daughter attests that his lifelong practice of family worship is faithfully
maintained. Several members of his Cabinet in addition to Mr. Wanamaker are church
members and attendants, and share the President's deep and clear-cut religious convictions.

There is enough of this element at the head of the government to set a national example of Sunday observance. Politicians seeking for official favors will be the first to feel the effect. Those who spend the Sabbath in Washington are quite likely to make their attendance at church conspicuous.

From them the influence will radiate in a thousand directions. And then there are the people who do not mingle in politics, but
who will profit by the lesson that men can be successful and honored and great without surrendering their convictions to catch the
favor of those who assail Sabbath observance

as a violation of "personal liberty," and sneer
at religion as "only for women and children." The chief ruler of the country holds an influence over the people more potent than that of any other man in the nation, and if
that influence is against religion it suffices to demoralize a very large element. David
B. Hill could not have been re-elected last fall if he had not, by executive acts, built up the Sunday-observance saloon into a great political machine and attracted to it thousands who prefer the Sabbath as it was kept by their fathers, but feel
it to be their interest to be "in the swim."

The new administration is giving a boom
to the Sabbath—bringing it back to the affections of the American people. Mr.
Wanamaker's example alone has aroused a new interest in the day in Philadelphia, and started thousands to church who had for years either kept the day in an indifferent manner or actually violated the spirit of its observance. We look for good and beautiful results in every part of the country from the example now being set by our rulers at Washington. The people will follow them the more gladly because they know that they are right.

TIRE OF THE SOLID SOUTH.

Roger A. Pryor, ex-Confederate General,
and a noted Southern fire-eater and free
trader in past days, has been talking to the New York Herald concerning the effect of Harrison's administration upon the South.

Gen. Pryor was a faithful Democrat and free trade apostle in the late campaign, but it is
plain that the election has made an impression upon him. He thinks that if Harrison
will conduct his administration upon two
lines laid down in his inaugural—abstention
from party controversies and firm support of a protective tariff—he will break up the Solid South and attach a very large proportion of the Southern vote to the Republican party.

He sees but two influences operating against
this tendency, and these are long association
of the people with the Democratic party and
the unwillingness of the leaders to surrender
their hold upon office.

But Gen. Pryor is convinced that the tariff policy of the Republican party is going to win with the people. "Even in Texas," he says, "where there are no manufacturers, the wool interest demands protection. The mineral resources of Virginia, Alabama, Tennessee and other states also demand protection.

Then, too, cotton factories are rapidly
springing up in the cotton states. The combined effect of these influences is to make the Southern people the champions of a protective policy." And the only reason, says
Gen. Pryor, why the South has remained with the Democratic party in violation of the tariff convictions of the majority, is the determination to keep the educated white classes in control of the governments in that section. He thinks Gen. Harrison intends to treat this race
issue in a conservative spirit, and attaches
much importance to his ancestral relation
with Virginia. The General declared in conclusion that he was still a Democrat and a Southern man in his views of public policy,
but "did not believe that the disruption of the Solid South would be of detriment to the Democratic party." Democratic solidarity at the South had made a solid Republican North. For any loss of votes by the breaking up of the Solid South "the Democratic party would be more than indemnified by an accession of votes and power in the North."

The victory is half won when Democratic leaders begin to admit that the Solid South is destined to be broken up. It is much more than half won when these same leaders confess that the breaking up would be a good thing for the South. Gen. Pryor still adheres to the free trade theory, he thinks it a demonstrable doctrine, but he has made the discovery that "other than mere economical interests must operate in the conception of a scheme of public policy." This will certainly fill with disgust our mugwump college professors and other gentlemen of fixed incomes
to whom the paramount question is the price
of a suit of clothes made from English goods.

HOW ONE GIRL DIED.

Annie Cordes, married, but unsupported
by her husband, had earned a miserable living as a concert singer in the low dives of New York. Last night she was engaged to sing
in Rudolph Stein's place at 36 First-street. She had not been well for some time, but sang in the same saloon on Saturday night and was kept busy until nearly daylight yesterday morning. She came back last evening and sang
one or two ballads, and, as one of the other women in the place remarked, "I tried to appear pleasant." Shortly after 7 o'clock she stepped upon the stage again, sang part of a ballad, tottered and tried to walk toward the stage, but fell in a faint, while a stream of blood flowed from her nose and mouth.

She was carried up stairs
and flung upon a bed. One of the girls asked Stein to get her a doctor, but he answered,
"Oh, let her go to—." She lay on the bed and bled to death without an effort having been made to save her life. Stein hurriedly
obtained a permit from Coroner Messerer,
who lives near, and had an undertaker's cart
before the door in which to send the body
away without an inquest, when a policeman saw the cart and entered the place. Stein and his wife were dishing out beer, seven girls
were alternately singing on the stage, and a bloated musician was pounding a piano.

Stein showed his Coroner's permit to the
policeman, and the body was carted away.
Her husband was notified by telegraph.

Decency turns with disgust from the poverty that drives women to the dives. But
it stands appalled at the poverty that drives them to death. Stein as an employer of wretched women was a despicable creature
to be shunned. But as one who drives them
punished as a murderer.

MR. WANAMAKER IN SUNDAY SCHOOL.
Not Postmaster General but Superintendent
Yesterday.

[Philadelphia correspondence, New York Sun.]
* * * At 2:30, and not a second later, when the orchestra was just in the middle of a pretty bit of comic opera with a rattling jiggle to it, Mr. Wanamaker stepped upon the stage. After he had swept one of his glances over the school, he made a signal to the organist, who played a little overture. Mr. Sweeney and the full band joined in, Mr. Sweeney leading, with a folded paper
for a baton. * * * All together they sang:

Onward, onward, onward Christian soldier,
Marching, marching, marching, as to war.
After the song there was a long moment of
deep silence, and then, in a clear, rich voice,
the Postmaster-General exclaimed:

"If God be with us, who can be against us?"

A thousand voices replied, "There shall
not any man be able to stand before thee all
the days of thy life, as I was with Moses, so I will be with thee; I will not fail thee, nor forsake thee."

Another silence, and then the organ played
soft and low, the orchestra joined in slowly,
and at a signal the whole school began to chant in beautiful unison. "When doubt and conflict come with us, with its chorus,"
"Nearer, my God, to Thee." The sweet chant dropped off into silence at last, and after a moment the Postmaster-General's ringing voice ejaculated:

"Will God in very deed dwell with men
on the earth?"

The answer came rumbling from the throats
of the male part of the school:

"For thus saith the high and lofty One
that inhabiteth eternity, whose name is holy,
I dwell in the high and holy place, and with him also that is of a contrite and humble
spirit."

The organ played low again for a time, and then drifted into the tune, "The Lord shall comfort Zion." This was broken up into parts, as the first song had been, and when the infants twittered all alone, "The Lord
shall comfort Zion. He will comfort her waste places, and make her like the garden of Eden, and a pretty young woman like her, and the Postmaster-General walked along the stage to get nearer them, and bending over listened with a rapt look and his clasped hands held down in front of him until it was over. Then he smiled all over his face, and a pretty young woman like her, and the Postmaster-General walked back in a nook out of sight, who played a little organ
to and led the singing of the tots, leaned back
in her chair with a relieved look and smiled
too. The little ones seeing from her smile
that they had done well, began to laugh and rustle about in infantile self-congratulation.

The Postmaster-General, who could not see the pretty young woman, thought they were smiling at him, and he smiled more and rubbed his hands, whereat everybody was glad, because he was glad, and smiled too, so that the whole situation was very appropriate
to the words of the song, which were being sung back and forth between the gallery of tenor boys and the soprano gallery of girls:

Joy and gladness, joy and gladness
Shall be found therein,
Thanksgiving and the voice of melody.

"On whom doth thou trust?" was the exclamation with which the Postmaster General punctuated the stillness that followed
this song, and it was the girls who answered:
"The Lord also will be a refuge for the op-

HOW WILL IT END?

The Alarming Increase of a Trouble that is Menacing the People of all Classes—it must be Stopped, but How?

There being prominent men and women who have been dying recently is very large and, strange to say, nearly every one was the victim of one trouble, namely, pneumonia. We hear of these prominent people because they are prominent, but there are thousands who die of this same dreadful disease suddenly and of whom the world never hears. It is safe to say that during the cold season, fully half of all deaths arise from pneumonia.

This is a mysterious disease. It comes suddenly and works quickly. It must be taken on the start, at all, and any person who feels a tickling in the throat, a tightness of the chest, a dry cough, difficulty in raising or pain in coughing, should beware! That very moment is the time to act, and by stimulating the body, healthily throw off the germs of disease before they grow. There is only one certain way by which that can be done, viz: by the use of pure stimulants, and it is not generally admitted that Drury's Pure Malt Whiskey is the only reliable form in which pure whiskey is to-day offered to the public. This grand and pure compound is not a common whiskey, but a sure and absolute remedy.

It has saved more lives threatened by pneumonia, checked more consumption and preserved more health than any other chemical discovery of modern times. Its popularity proves generally admitted that Drury's Pure Malt Whiskey is the only reliable form in which pure whiskey is to-day offered to the public. This grand and pure compound is not a common whiskey, but a sure and absolute remedy.

SIXTY-SEVEN YEARS AGO.

EVENTS THAT WERE PUBLISHED IN NEWSPAPERS HERE.

Half Stones as Large as Musket Balls, that Fell in the Month of July—Charmed

By a Rattlesnake—Perils of the Hudson-Indian Skeletons.

A man living on Fair-street, Kingston, has in his possession a number of newspapers printed in Kingston in 1822. The following events of 67 years ago, taken from the paper, may prove interesting:

"The fast-sailing packet ship Columbia arrived at New-York in 38 days from Liverpool."

"Great events may be expected in March, and war between Russia and the Porte is inevitable."

"Several canals are being cut out in Connecticut. When finished they will aggregate 250 miles and cost $4,000,000. This, for a small state, is certainly cutting out business on a large scale."

The perils of the Hudson River in those days are shown in an item describing how Captain Elting with his sloop experienced a violent gale of wind. "The waves dashed to an awful height," during which he witnessed the capsizing of a sloop loaded with flour and pork. He reached the vessel just in time to save the life of a woman by cutting a hole in the cabin with an axe.

"A milk cow has just been seen in New-York for $106. This cow is noted for the abundance and richness of its milk, which has rarely if ever been equalled. It produces the enormous quantity of 20 quarts a day."

"A woman in the northern part of the State threw herself over a precipice 100 feet high. She had set her affections on a young man who had made a proper return, which was the cause."

"The drawing of the literary lottery was completed last week and the highest prize, $20,000, has been drawn by the State. Cold comfort indeed for the adventurers."

"A French school has been opened in Kingston. The Professor will teach French by sectional divisions, through which if the pupil has passed he becomes a proficient."

"The body of Jane McCrea, who was murdered and scalped in 1777, by a party of Indians at Fort Edward, has been disinterred and deposited in a public cemetery. A large concourse of people attended the obsequies. Few of the bones were decomposed, and the traces of the fatal tomahawk in the skull were still visible."

"While excavating a canal at Jamaica, Long Island, the skeletons of a number of Indians were disinterred, and at the head of each was found a bottle of rum, a kettle and a tomahawk. These interments must have taken place more than a century since. They may have tasted of the rum state it to be of the most exquisite flavor."

"The Representatives of the House of Congress is composed of lawyers, 97; farmers and planters, 59; merchants, 13; physicians, 13; manufacturers, four; clergymen, one. Total, 131."

"A story is told of how a young girl was charmed by a snake. 'It was on a warm summer day. She went to spread wet clothes on some shrubbery near the house. Her mother conceived that she remained longer than necessary and seeing her stand unoccupied at some distance, she called to her several times, but no answer was returned. On approaching, she found her pale and motionless and fixed in an erect posture. The sweat rolled down her brow and her hands were clenched convulsively. A large rattlesnake lay on a log opposite the girl, waving his head from side to side, with his eyes steadfastly on her. The mother instantly struck him with a stick, and the moment he made off the girl recovered herself and hurried to her mother, who was some time so weak and agitated that she could not walk home."

"A duel will be fought in Georgia soon between a Colonel and a member of Congress because each favored a different man for President. Both are excellent shots and both may fall in the contest."

"Innumerable flocks of pigeons have for several weeks past filled the air in all directions. In the woods, about 10 miles from this place, they have occupied a space for nesting, and called 'nearly 10 miles in length, and from two to five in width; all things above, beneath and around seemed alive with these light-winged tenants. Every tree was covered with their nests, frequently 25 or 30 upon one. Gentlemen of this village have been seen and after spending two or three hours in the wood returned satiated, and the prospect of a good dinner in the shape of 100 or 200 pigeons. So thick were they that 20 or 30 have in many instances been killed with a single shot."

"The history of foreign news is given. A writer in Russia wrote a quarto-volume in favor of liberty and equality. 'He was tried for a libel upon the Government, condemned and sentenced to eat his own words. A scaffold was erected in the public square and the prisoner, after reading the czar and the executioner, multiplied the cover was torn from the book, the margin trimmed from the pages, and the author then forced to chew and swallow the printed leaves."

"A few days before the Fourth of July there was a heavy hail storm. Hail the size of a musket ball and some the size of a hen's eggs fell. It came down with such force that it broke the windows of the cabin of a vessel on the river; drove the passengers and completely cut the throat of the Captain to tatters. Such a quantity fell upon the deck," said the person relating this incident, "that they were obliged to throw it overboard with shovels to keep the vessel from sinking. This hail storm ruined many meadows, killed fowls, beat off large cabbage heads close to the stump, swept the fruit from trees, and did other great damage."

"An expert woman has just spun a pound of wool into a thread of 163,000 yards, and a pound of cotton into a single thread of 203,000 yards."

SPECIAL BUSINESS NOTICES.

"A month ago I was happy" is the declaration of Bryan W. Proctor, the poet. So were lots of other folks, who are now telling people in decided tones: "Got a toad in my back, but there is still happiness to be secured; a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup will cure any cough or cold."

$500, OR CURE YOUR CATARRH.

For a long time, the great manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, who are thoroughly responsible, financially, as any one can easily ascertain by proper inquiry, have been through nearly every newspaper in the land, a standing reward of $500 for a case of nasal catarrh, no matter how bad, or how long it has existed, who they may cure. The remedy is sold by all druggists at only 50 cents. It mingles soothing, cleansing, deodorizing, antiseptic and healing.

A SAFE INVESTMENT. Is one which is guaranteed to bring a satisfactory result, or in case of failure a return of purchase price. On this safe plan you can buy from our advertised drug bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. It is guaranteed to bring relief in every case, when used with any affection of Throat, Lungs, the Chest, such as Consumption, Inflammation of Lungs, Bronchitis, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Croup, etc., etc. It is pleasant and agreeable to taste, perfectly safe, and can all ways be depended upon. WHY WILL YOU cough when Shiloh's Cure will give immediate relief? A bottle, 50 cents, and $1. Sold by Frederick J. R. Clark.

I have had catarrh for 20 years, and used all kinds of remedies without relief. Mr. Smith's Kidney Pills, recommended by Ely's Cream Balm, the effect of the first application was magical. It allayed the inflammation, and the next morning my head was as clear as a bell. One bottle has done me so much good that I will continue its use until I feel permanent cure. It is soothing, pleasant and easy to apply, and I strongly urge its use by all sufferers. —George Terry, Little Falls, N. Y.

IF YOU WISH To enjoy good health and prevent the seeds of disease from ripening into your system, you should use Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs, which will prevent your system from being all run down by making it strong and vigorous. —Rev. W. R. Snow.

Original and peculiar in composition, they are bound to fill pain, soothe and strengthen—Hop Plasters.

SHILOH'S VITALIZER is what you need for Constipation, Loss of Appetite, Dizziness and all symptoms of Dyspepsia. Price 10 and 75 cents per bottle. Sold by F. J. R. Clark, Kingston.

A LUCKY MAN. Mr. Lyman Crawford, Druggist of Springfield, Mass., says: "I have had kidney disease in its worst form, and I state, with a perfect recollection of all that was done for me, that Dr. Kennedy's Catarrh Remedy, sold by F. J. R. Clark, N. Y., gave me permanent relief. If you do not keep the medicine, address the proprietor, Rondout, N. Y."

THE REY. GEO. H. THAYER, of Boston, Ind. says: "Both myself and wife owe our lives to SHILOH'S CONSUMPTION CURE." Sold by Frederick J. R. Clark.

Don't—"I don't know where I can't tell you. I don't see how something of great value to me, for the return of which I shall be truly thankful, viz: a good appetite."

Good Health and strength, pure blood, an appetite like that of a wolf, regular digestion, all by taking that popular and peculiar medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla. I've tried it to the very bottom, and it is sold by all druggists. One hundred doses one dollar.

"HACKETTACK," a lasting and fragrant perfume. Price 25 and 50 cents. Sold by Frederick J. R. Clark.

Those troublesome pains in the chest, back, kidneys, or side, instantly relieved by a Hop Plaster.

Painful of the heart, nervousness, tremblings, nervous headache, cold hands and feet, pain in the back, and other forms of weakness are relieved by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, sold by F. J. R. Clark, N. Y.

A NATAL INJUNCTION free with each bottle of Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy. Price 50 cents. Sold by Frederick J. R. Clark.

"THE TABLE ROBS MORE THAN THE THEFT." Over-indulgence at the table robs more than a thief. Little Hop Pills always cure such excesses and regulate the liver. All druggists sell them. Try, Judge.

HUMPHREYS. Dr. Humphrey's Specifics are scientifically and carefully prepared prescriptions, used for many years, and have stood the test of time, and for over thirty years used by the people. Every single Specific is a special cure for the disease named.

These medicines cure without hurting or reducing the system, and are in fact and deed the sovereign remedies of the world.

REASONS

Why Ayer's Sarsaparilla is preferable to any other for the cure of Blood Diseases.

Because no poisonous or deleterious ingredients enter into the composition of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla contains only the purest and most effective remedial properties.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is prepared with extreme care, skill and cleanliness.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is prescribed by leading physicians.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is for sale everywhere, and recommended by all first class druggists.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a medicine and not a beverage in disguise.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla never fails to effect a cure when persistently used, according to directions.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a highly concentrated extract, and therefore the most economical Blood Medicine in the market.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla has had a successful career of nearly thirty years, and has never been so popular as at present.

Thousands of testimonials are on file from those benefited by the use of

HOW WILL IT END?

The Alarming Increase of a Trouble that is Menacing the People of all Classes—It must be stopped, but how?

The number of prominent men and women who have been dying recently is very large and, strange to say, nearly every one of the victims has been a man, namely, pneumonia. We hear of these prominent people because they are prominent, but there are thousands who die of this same dreadful disease suddenly and of whom the world never hears. It is safe to say that during the cold season, fully half of all deaths arise from pneumonia.

This is a mysterious disease. It comes suddenly and works quickly. It must be taken on the start if at all, and any person who feels a tickling in the throat, a tightness of the chest, a dry cough, difficulty in raising or clearing the throat, should beware that very moment is the time to act, and by stimulating the body, healthily throw off the germs of disease before they grow. There is only one certain way by which that can be done, viz: by the use of pure stimulants, and it is now generally admitted that Dr. J. C. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the only reliable form in which pure whiskey is to-day offered to the public. This grand and pure compound is not a common whiskey, but a sure and absolute remedy. It has saved more lives threatened by pneumonia, checked more consumption and preserved more health than any other chemical discovery of modern times. Its popularity is due to its purity, and under no circumstances to take a cheap substitute which is sold under the name of Sarsaparilla. It is safe to say, for even if it is checked, unless taken promptly, it may run into consumption.

★ BRIGHT'S DISEASE. ★

A Ten-Year-Old Child Saved After the Failure of Four Physicians.

My little girl, ten years of age, was taken sick in March, 1888, with scarlet fever. When recovering she took a severe cold, and developed Bright's Disease of the kidneys. Her face, feet and eyes were terribly swollen, she had a burning fever, and all the symptoms of an aggravated case of Bright's Disease. Four of our best physicians attended her, but without success, and

Her Life was Despaired of.

But a mother's love and prayers surmount all difficulties, and I determined to try Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, made at Rondout, N. Y. This was a last resort, and I hoped, although my little daughter's case was a very severe one, that the Favorite Remedy would do her what it had done for others whose condition had not been, seemingly, as hopeless. How happy I am that I determined upon this course for an improvement was at once perceptible. The fever left her—her appetite improved—she gained six pounds in a short time, and one by one the well known and dreaded symptoms of the disease left her. Words fail me to express my gratitude and I cannot too earnestly recommend the Favorite Remedy. It was

A MARVELOUS RECOVERY

and is due entirely to the Favorite Remedy, which was the only medicine taken after her case was abandoned by the physicians.

Mrs. Laura A. Kempton, West Rutland, Vermont. The diseases that follow Scarlet Fever, measles, Diphtheria and various other complaints often leave behind them sequelae of the most obstinate and dangerous character. To expel all traces of such disorders, tone up the various organs, and fill the veins with pure and nutritious blood, use

SIXTY-SEVEN YEARS AGO.

EVENTS THAT WERE PUBLISHED IN NEWSPAPERS HERE.

Hail Stones as Large as Musket Balls, that Fell in the Month of July—Charmed By a Rattlesnake—Perils of the Hudson-Indian Skeletons.

A man living on Fair-street, Kingston, has in his possession a number of newspapers printed in Kingston in 1822. The following events of 67 years ago, taken from the paper, may prove interesting:

"The fast-sailing packet ship Columbia arrived at New-York in 38 days from Liverpool."

"Great events may be expected in March, and war between Russia and the Porte is inevitable."

"Several canals are being cut out in Connecticut. When finished they will aggregate 250 miles and cost $4,000,000. This, for a small state, is certainly cutting out business on a large scale."

The perils of the Hudson River in those days are shown in an item describing how Captain Elting with his sloop experienced a violent gale of wind. "The waves dashed to an awful height," during which he witnessed the capsize of a sloop loaded with flour and pork. He reached the vessel just in time to save the life of a woman by cutting a hole in the cabin with an axe.

A milk cow has just been sold in New-York for $100. This cow is noted for the abundance and richness of its milk, which has rarely if ever been equalled. It produces the enormous quantity of 20 quarts a day."

A woman in the northern part of the State threw herself over a precipice 100 feet high. She had set her affections on a young man who had not made a proper return, which was the cause."

"The drawing of the literary lottery was completed last week, and the highest prize, $30,000, has been drawn by the State. Cold comfort indeed for the adventurers."

"A French school has been opened in Kingston. The Professor will teach French by sectional divisions, through which will be the pupil has pressed he becomes a proficient."

"The body of Jane McCrea, who was murdered and scalped in 1777, by a party of Indians at Fort Edward, has been disinterred and deposited in a public cemetery. A large concourse of people attended the exhumation. Few of the bones were decomposed, and the traces of the fatal tomahawk in the skull were still visible."

"While excavating a canal at Jamaica, Long Island, the skeletons of a number of Indians were discovered, and at the head of each was found a bottle of rum, a kettle and a tomahawk. These interments must have taken place more than a century since. Those who have tasted of the rum state it to be of the most exquisite flavor."

"The Representatives of the House of Congress is composed of lawyers, 57; farmers and planters, 50; merchants, 13; physicians, 12; manufacturers, 40; clergymen, one; Total, 139."

A story is told of how a young girl was charmed by a snake. "It was on a warm summer day. She was sent to spread wet clothes on some shrubbery near the house. Her mother, convinced that she remained longer than necessary and seeing her stand unoccupied at some distance, she called to her several times, but no answer was returned. On approaching, she found her pale and motionless and fixed in an erect posture. The sweat rolled down her brow and her hands were clenched convulsively. A large rattlesnake lay on a log opposite the girl, waving his head from side to side, with his eyes steadily fast on her. The mother instantly struck him with a stick, and the moment he made off the girl recovered herself and burst into tears, but was for some time weak and agitated that she could not walk home."

"Innumerable flocks of pigeons have for several weeks past filled the air in all directions. In the woods, about 10 miles from this place, they have occupied a space for nesting, so called nearly 10 miles in length, and from two to five in width; all things above, beneath and around seemed alive with these light-winged tenants. So thick were they that 20 or 30 have in many instances been killed with a single shot."

An item of foreign news is given. A writer in Russia wrote a quarto-volume in favor of liberty and equality. "He was tried for libel upon the Government, condemned and sentenced to exile for life in Siberia. A scaffold was erected in the public square of St. Petersburg. Upon it stood the Czar and the executioner. In the presence of an immense multitude the cover was torn from the book, the margin trimmed from the pages, and the author then forced to chew and swallow the printed leaves."

"A few days before the Fourth of July there was a heavy hail storm. Hail the size of a musket ball and some the size of a hen's egg fell. It came down with such force that it broke the windows of the cabin of a vessel on the river; drove all the passengers inside and completely cut the overcoat of the Captain to tatters. ## DROWNED IN THE HUDSON.

THE FATE OF TWO YOUNG MEN YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

They Attempted to Row Across the River in an Old Boat Against the Advice of Friends—One Man Rescued—Accident to a Captain.

Men named Layman and Pier, foundrymen employed in New-Hamberg, were drowned in the Hudson River, midway between New-Hamberg and Marlborough, yesterday afternoon at about 3 o'clock. There were three men in the party when they left the Marlborough shore, near Hampton, in an old boat unfit for service. Before starting they were advised not to attempt the trip, as the condition of the boat made it unsafe. A strong wind had been blowing nearly all day which created a heavy sea. The men, however, would not be persuaded. When about a half-mile from the west shore the boat capsized, throwing its occupants overboard. The shouts of the men were heard by a man named Lawson, of New-Hamberg, who went to the rescue in a launch yawl boat. He succeeded in hauling one of the men into his boat. Before he could turn about the boat had carried the other occupants, Layman and Pier, a long distance from him. About 15 minutes afterwards they sank from sight. They came from New-York and had been employed in the foundry for some time.

Another Accident.

Captain Benjamin Wells, of the ferry-boat Transport, while attempting to adjust the iron stop which prevents the cable wheel from turning, at the slip in this City, on Saturday, was struck by the wheel in the breast, thrown a considerable distance and rendered unconscious. The Captain was taken to his residence yesterday on account of his injuries.

MINOR NOTES AROUND THIS TOWN.

Facts, Fancies and Gossip Heard by Reporters Here This Day.

Crocodines in John R. Styles' yard, Kingston, are in full bloom.

Gardeners in and near Kingston City are trimming fruit trees and clearing up grass plots.

The members of the Kingston Council of the Royal Templars of Temperance will meet this evening.

The members of this City's Board of Health will hold a meeting Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

THE MORTUARY RECORD HEREABOUT.

People who Have Passed Over to the Great Sleep.

Mrs. Cornelius Fox, of Rondout, died on Saturday evening.

Ex-State Senator Stephen H. Wendover, of Stuyvesant, died on Saturday morning.

Richard C. Meeks, an old resident of Poughkeepsie, died on Sunday, at the age of 77.

Henry W. Whitney, for many years a prominent citizen of Saugerties, died on Friday, aged 75 years.

The funeral of Cornelius H. VanGastbeek, Jr., was held from the residence of his parents, on Green-street, Kingston, this afternoon. The address was made by the Rev. Lewis T. Watson. The attendance was large. There were many beautiful floral tributes. The burial was in Whitwick Cemetery.

CASE IN THE COURT OF SESSIONS.

Defendant, Failed to Put in Appearance—Bench Warrant Issued.

The Court of Sessions reconvened, this afternoon, in the Court House, Kingston. Judge Furman, of Troy, occupied the bench for the purpose of hearing the case of The People vs. Daniel D. Bell. In this case an extra panel of 100 jurors was ordered last week. The jurors in the case were called and sworn. Bell did not appear. His counsel, F. L. Westbrook, said that he had received a letter from his client's son, which stated that the elder Bell was ill and unable to be present. The District Attorney asked for a bench warrant, which was issued, and an officer was sent to serve it upon Bell. The Court took a recess until Tuesday morning.

A PET DOG SETS A HOUSE ON FIRE.

The Canine Pulled a Burning Kerosene Lamp Off the Table.

Last evening while Miss Sarah Masten was in her room in the Masten house on Washington-avenue, near Pearl-street, Kingston, she heard a noise in the kitchen. Upon going to that room she found that a pet dog had pulled a cloth from the table and with it a kerosene lamp, which had been left burning. There was a big blaze. The wood-work had ignited and the flames had mounted towards the ceiling. Miss Masten and her sister were alone. They threw flour upon the burning oil and then gave an alarm, which brought several men to the scene. The fire was extinguished.

THE BODY OF MISSING MAN FOUND.

Had Not Been Seen Since February 20—Discovered in Water.

On Thursday, February 29, Frederick McFarland, of Bovina, Delaware County, a well-to-do farmer, was in Delhi to serve as one of the Grand Jurors during the term of Court then in session there. On the afternoon of that day he disappeared and no trace could be found of him. Sunday morning a man while walking across a bridge about a mile below the village of Delhi, discovered McFarland's body in the water. It is believed that while in a despondent frame of mind he wandered off and fell or jumped into the river.

Building Nests.

A large flock of sparrows "swooped down" upon the roof of the shed on the ferry-boat Transport's dock, in Rondout, this morning. The birds began building nests. One sparrow found a piece of old rope more than it could carry. It flew up on one of the beams and a moment later four sparrows returned, and taking hold of the rope with their bills, carried it to a corner in the roof.

Sewer "Choked Up."

The sewer on the corner of Union-avenue and Mill-street, Rondout, became "choked up" with debris, to-day. The water "backed up" and flowed into the cellar of the O'Reilly building, on the north corner, to the depth of about two feet. Goods which were stored in the cellar, were damaged. James Tongue, Jr., estimates his loss at between $300 and $500.

"Made Her Face Laugh."

A Rondout little girl, who attended Sunday School yesterday, was asked by her mother: "Did your teacher smile?" "No," replied the little one, "she made her face laugh."

Ember Days.

The next ember days are the Wednesday, Friday and Saturday after the Feast of Pentecost and are known as the Whitsuntide ember days.

Presentation.

William Dederick, ex-Foreman of Weiner Hose Company, of this City, was presented with a gold fireman's badge by members of that organization on Friday night.

IN AND OUT OF THE PORT OF RONDOUT.

First Trip of the Night—Boats—Arrival and Departure of Tows, Etc.

The propeller J. H. Cordts will leave this port for New-York with a tow, to-night.

The barges Brick and George C. Basten are being laden with brick at Hutton's yard, East-Kingston.

The Hudson ferry-boat on the river rim knocked off one of its wheels Saturday, by the ice, and was laid up for a time.

George H. Atkins, lately Purser of the propeller Newburgh, will be Captain of the propeller Homer Ramsdell this season.

Daniel T. Weed, Newburgh agent of the Newburgh and Albany Day Line steamboats, will retire from the position on April 1.

Captain George VanSteenburgh, late Purser of the Homer Ramsdell, will be Captain of the steamboat James T. Brett this season.

A boat is being laden with coal-wood at the Railroad Dock, Poughkeepsie, for Manchester & Streeter's brickyard, East-Kingston.

The Delaware & Hudson Canal boatmen have sent a petition to the officials of the Company, asking for an increased rate for carrying coal.

The first trips of the steamboats J. H. Tremper and M. Martin, of the Rondout & Albany Line, will be made on Monday. The Tremper will leave Newburgh and the Martin will start from Albany.

The steamer "City of Kingston" and the steamboat James W. Baldwin will begin making regular trips between this City and New-York on Wednesday. On that day the "City of Kingston" will leave Rondout at 6 o'clock p. m., and the James W. Baldwin will leave New-York at 4 o'clock p. m.

On his last trip, last night, between Rondout and Edenville, a part of the machinery of the steam passenger yacht Eltinge Anderson became broken, incapacitating it for service to-day. The steam yacht Charles A. Schultz, which has been undergoing repairs on McMillen's ways, Saugerties, was launched, this forenoon, and placed on the Anderson's route.

The steamboat Norwich left New-York, yesterday morning, with the following boats in tow: Harvest Queen, Marchant, Penny, G. DeGroot, A. B. Kellogg, H. C. Washburn, H. H. Schultz, S. S. Staples, Three Sisters, A. Maines, K. A. Fredericks, boats Craig, H. J. Brant, to Rondout; W. A. Williams, box No. 41, schooners S. A. Ludlum, Nelson, to Staatsburgh.

IN THE FIELD OF SPORTS HEREABOUT.

A Challenge—Organized a Ball Team—Large Woodchuck—Salmon in the Hudson.

There is as yet no talk of forming a base ball club in this City for the coming season.

The students of the Cross Seminary, on Golden Hill, have organized a strong base ball nine for the season of 1889.

A woodchuck weighing 15 pounds was killed at Stony Ford, Orange County, one day recently. These animals are usually poor in flesh when spring opens.

The Rifle team of the Fourteenth Separate Company, of this City, have received a challenge from the Rifle Team of Company B, of Albany, to shoot a match. The challenge will probably be accepted.

Myron S. Allen, of this City, formerly a member of the Cleveland Club, of the American Association, said to-day that he has had a number of offers from clubs to play ball, but has refused them. He said he will not play professional baseball.

From the Hudson River.

All persons interested in the stocking of the Hudson River in this vicinity with salmon are looking forward with a great deal of interest as to what results they will meet with in taking the fish with hook and line this summer.

At the rate in which these fish have developed in the Hudson these returning this season for the third time should weigh about 45 pounds. In all probability salmon will arrive at this point in the River in the middle or the latter part of May. The fishing season will last until August 1. The salmon come from the sea.

THE RECORD OF CITY AMUSEMENTS.

At Liscomb's Opera House To-night—Equine Paradox—American Opera Company.

At the Academy of Music, this evening, Professor Bartholomew's "Equine Paradox" will begin a week's engagement. There are 24 trained horses and they perform some clever tricks.

At Liscomb's Opera House, Rondout, to-night, Miss Settle Blume, elocutionist, of New-York, and Miss S. Crosby, of this City, will take part in an entertainment for the benefit of the Congregation Emanuel. An interesting programme will be rendered.

On Wednesday night, the Lillian Kennedy Company will appear at Liscomb's Opera House, Rondout, in the comedy entitled "Casey's Troubles." This company drew crowded houses the last time it was here. On Thursday night they will give an entertainment in Kingston Opera House.

On Wednesday evening, March 20, the new American Opera Company, consisting of 85 artists, will appear at Kingston Opera House. Gustav Hinrichs, the director, is a well-known conductor and he will bring a larger opera company than has ever been seen in this City. The orchestra of 20 skilled musicians is highly spoken of, as is also the ballet and chorus. No doubt the opportunity of listening to this company will be embraced by a majority of the music-loving people of Kingston, as it promises to be a rare treat.

IN THE LOCAL FIELD OF INDUSTRY.

Will Soon be Filled In—Large Order for Cuba Steam Elevator.

A large order is being filled for Cuba at the Honesdale glass works.

Captain A. Woolsey, late of the propeller Homer Ramsdell, will manage the Ramsdell brickyard at Dennings Point this season.

The work of laying the frames for two new steam floating elevators for the Delaware & Hudson Canal Company was begun "Up-the-dock" Rondout, this morning.

The slip in the center of the "Lower Island Dock" of the Delaware & Hudson Canal Company in Rondout, will soon be "filled in." A large apparatus for hoisting and "yarding" coal will be erected there.

People Who are Ill.

Captain Clinton Tremper, of the propeller Dr. D. Kennedy, was taken suddenly ill in Rondout last night. To-day his condition was somewhat improved.

A dispatch from Albany to THE FREEMAN to-day stated: The condition of Dr. John Swinburne, ex-Health Officer of the Port of New-York, is not improved. He is very weak from hemorrhages of the stomach, caused by internal abscess.

Andrew J. Story, of Kingston, is seriously ill, caused by a strong cold. He is being treated by Dr. J. H. Lummis. "Customs and Manners of the Apache Women" is vividly portrayed by William H. Carter, U. S. A.

Protecting Home Industries.

The dress worn by Mrs. Harrison at the inauguration ball was a silk brocade woven in New York State. Mrs. Harrison selected the pattern—an Indiana bur-oak leaf—which was made into a design for the weavers to work from by Miss Williamson, of Lafayette, Indiana. The work is said to be the most elaborate ever done in an American manufacturing factory.

The materials for Mrs. Morton's and Mrs. McKee's ball gowns were woven by the same looms. The pattern on Mrs. McKee's was an Indiana golden-rod, also drawn by Miss Williamson.

Result of a Dog's Bite.

J. C. Potter, of Newburgh, formerly of this City, is suffering severely from a dog bite, received on March 7. He is believed to be suffering from blood-poisoning. Proper attention was not given to the wound at the time it was inflicted.

A Hearing Had.

A hearing was had, to-day, in Ulster Surrogate's Court, on a matter of proving the will and testament of Lewis T. Sheely, of the town of Marlborough.

Promised for Tuesday.

Fair, no decided change in temperature north-easterly winds.

IRISH WIT AND HUMOR DEPICTED.

Stories Told by the Rev. S. Giffard Nelson, Recently.

The Rev. S. Giffard Nelson, of Trinity Church, Brooklyn, in illustrating traits of Irish wit and humor during his recent lecture in the Wesleyan Baptist Church, Rondout, told the following stories:

An Irishman meeting a man from Dublin said: "Isn't your name Welch?" On being told it was not he replied: "Troth, and I be acquainted with two old moids there and I be thought meself one o' them might be your mother."

An English tourist on a jaunting car in Dublin during a severe rain asked his Irish driver if it did not make him uncomfortable to be so wet. The rejoinder was: "It's not the bayin' wet as affects me as the bayin' so moighty dry."

An Irishman came to his physician one day howling with pain and said: "Oh, Doc, give me a dose of that cross-treson top o' a Lieutenant on the deck. This while breaking the Irishman's fall, came near breaking the officer's neck. As soon as the Lieutenant got again on his feet he said: 'Pat Murphy, where the devil did you come from?' 'Pat doffed his hat and quickly replied: 'From the North of Ireland, yer honor.'"

An Irish sailor employed on a small vessel was not quick to learn the mysteries of navigation. While at the helm the skipper gave him a particular star to steer by. Soon the Captain became aware that the vessel was out of its course and said to the sailor: "Why don't you steer by the star I gave you?" "Whist, now," said Pat, "O've lost that star, but O've found one that's brighter and say to kape me eye upon."

A belidzeen Irishman in London, on being brought into the Bow-Street Police Court, charged with assault, was told by the judge to go to the door and get a new coat. He was allowed his freedom, but must be careful not to engage in a fight or assault any one. Said Pat: "O! can't fight! Englishmen?" "No," said the Judge. "Nor Irishmen?" "No," "Then the devil help the first furrier O' mate."

PASTORS, PEOPLES AND CHURCHES.

News Gleaned in the Religious Field in this City and Vicinity.

The Rev. G. Baetz, of the Ellenville Lutheran Church, has resigned. He intends to locate in the West.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the St. James M. E. Church, Kingston, will meet at the residence of M. B. Brown, on Lucas-avenue, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Secretary Crowell, of the Rondout Young Men's Christian Association, assisted by P. B. Warner and others, conducted services in the Port-Ewen Reformed Church, last evening.

The Hebrew residents of this City yesterday celebrated the Feast of Purim, which recalls to their memory the redemption of the Israelites from the schemes of Haman, as related in the Book of Esther.

During the present year of the New-York Conference, of a membership of 297, seven ministers have died, as follows: The Rev. Messrs. A. Weaver, T. W. Chadwick, E. B. Othman, T. C. Cur, L. W. Watsworth, G. S. Hare and J. W. B. Wood.

The Rev. O. Haviland, Pastor of the St. James M. E. Church, Kingston, preached today before the members of the Association, subject was "The Christian Illuminated," and his topic for the evening was "The Christian Invisible," from the text: "No weapon that is formed against Thee shall prosper," Isaiah liv:17.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Rondout Young Men's Christian Association will hold a fair in the Association rooms on the afternoon and evening of March 22. The chairmen of the several committees are:

Refreshments—Fancy Table—Flower Table—Confectionery

PHASES OF THE SEAMY SIDE.

TRAMPS WHO MADE ATTEMPT AT GENERAL JAIL DELIVERY.

Sawed Off an Iron Bar—Arrest of Three Men who Are Alleged to Have Stolen Goods—To Await a Re-Trial—Ball Bond Fixed—The Jail List.

There were 34 prisoners in the Ulster County Jail, Kingston, last night.

The ball of Jacob and Chester Palmer, of Mattawan, indicted for manslaughter in the second degree, is $800.

Frank Rose, whose conviction for burglary has been reversed by the General Term, will probably be brought from Clinton State Prison to the Ulster County Jail, Kingston, to await a retrial.

ATTEMPT AT JAIL DELIVERY.

Two tramps named respectively James Wilson and Daniel Stanley were sent last winter from Rosendale to the Ulster County Jail for 30 days. When their term of imprisonment had expired they were discharged. They celebrated the occasion by getting intoxicated. They were on their way to the Ulster County Jail, Kingston, arrested and again committed to jail for 30 days by Recorder Hussey. Yesterday Isaac Carman, the jailer, found that they had nearly sawed off one of the iron bars of their cell. This is considered by officers as an "odd caper" for tramps, who had only a few weeks to remain, and it is believed some scheme was on foot to attempt a general jail delivery. The sawed bar will be replaced by a new one. Several attempts by other prisoners heretofore have been made to saw the bars of the same window.

TRIO OF ROGUES ARRESTED.

On Sunday Thaddeus Wells, Arthur Short and Sanford Short, of the "Unsublimated Land," Kingston, hired a horse of Peter Hamilton, Rondout, saying they were going to Edenville. Instead they went to Saugerties. While there they tied the horse under the shed of the Exchange Hotel. Back of this shed is the office and barn of Pultz's stable. They visited this office during the absence of the proprietor, and stole a blanket valued at $10, a hammock, a pool table set, a whisk broom, etc. The men then started for Kingston. When Pultz became aware of his loss he sent for Officer Abert. Having suspicion of the three men, the officer started after them. Ascertaining along the road that the horse was owned in Rondout, he came to this place, and with Officer Barry and Peter Hamilton found the men at Flatbush. The stolen goods were in the wagon. The men were arrested and locked up in the Ulster County Jail at Kingston. This forenoon Peter Hamilton appeared in Recorder's Court and swore to a complaint against the prisoners. The trio were taken to Saugerties to-day to answer to charges preferred by Mr. Pultz.

Of Interest to Kingston People.

From an Exchange.

Twenty-five lawyers were accused before the Grand Jury, in New-York, last week, of the crime of "champery." For the benefit of many to whom this offense does not sound familiar, it may be explained that champery is the act of aiding a person in the prosecution of a lawsuit, under an agreement to make some profit from it. The defendant in the present case are accused by the railroad company of inciting property owners along the line of the elevated road to sue for damages, and agreeing to draw the legal fees from the expected indemnity. There will be considerable interest to see what becomes of the attempt to indict.

That Disposed Of Again.

From the Rhinebeck Gazette.

For several days past rumors have been flying among the hungry loving gossips, that our respected townsman, William E. Traver, had been guilty of the offense of selling a diseased ox to a Rondout butcher. Mr. Traver had the legal right to make such sale, inasmuch as the purchaser of the ox was made acquainted with its condition, at the time of the sale, and there was no intention by any person that such animal should be slaughtered for any other purpose than to utilize the hide, and other parts, not essential for food. The Grand Jury this week at Poughkeepsie, took this view of the matter, thereby completely vindicating the character of Mr. Traver in every respect.

DROWNED IN THE HUDSON.

THE FATE OF TWO YOUNG MEN YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

They Attempted to Row Across the River in an Old Boat Against the Advice of Friends—One Man Rescued—Accident to a Captain.

Men named Layman and Pier, foundrymen employed in New-Hamberg, were drowned in the Hudson River, midway between New-Hamberg and Marlborough, yesterday afternoon at about 3 o'clock. There were three men in the party when they left the Marlborough shore, near Hampton, in an old boat unfit for service. Before starting they were advised not to attempt the trip, as the condition of the boat made it unsafe. A strong wind had been blowing nearly all day which created a heavy sea. The men, however, would not be persuaded. When about a half-mile from the west shore the boat capsized, throwing its occupants overboard. The shouts of the men were heard by a man named Lawson, of New-Hamberg, who went to the rescue in a launch yawl boat. He succeeded in hauling one of the men into his boat. Before he could turn about the tide had carried the other occupants, Layman and Pier, a long distance from him. About 15 minutes after they sank from sight. They came from New-York and had been employed in the foundry for some time.

ANOTHER ACCIDENT.

Captain Benjamin Wells, of the ferry-boat Transport, while attempting to adjust the iron stop which prevents the cable wheel from turning, at the slip in this City, on Saturday, was struck by the wheel in the breast, thrown a considerable distance and rendered unconscious. The Captain was confined to his residence yesterday on account of his injuries.

MINOR NOTES AROUND THIS TOWN.

Facts, Fancies and Gossip Heard by Reporters Here This Day.

Crocodines in John R. Styles' yard, Kingston, are in full bloom.

Gardeners in and near Kingston City are trimming fruit trees and clearing up grass plots.

The members of the Kingston Council of the Royal Templars of Temperance will meet this evening.

The members of this City's Board of Health will hold a meeting Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

THE MORTUARY RECORD HEREABOUT.

People who Have Passed Over to the Great Silent Majority.

Mrs. Cornelius Fox, of Rondout, died on Saturday evening.

Ex-State Senator Stephen H. Wendover, of Sturtevant, died on Saturday morning.

Richard C. Meeks, an old resident of Poughkeepsie, died on Sunday, at the age of 77.

Terry W. Whitney, for many years a prominent citizen of Saugerties, died on Friday, aged 75 years.

The funeral of Cornelius H. VanGaesbeek, Jr., was held from the residence of his parents, on Green-street, Kingston, this afternoon. The address was made by the Rev. Lewis T. Watson. The attendance was large. There were many beautiful floral tributes. The burial was in Wiltwyck Cemetery.

CASE IN THE COURT OF SESSIONS.

Defendant Failed to Put in Appearance—Bench Warrant Issued.

The Court of Sessions reconvened, this afternoon, in the Court House, Kingston. Judge Furman, of Troy, occupied the bench for the purpose of hearing the case of The People vs. Daniel D. Bell. In this case an extra panel of 100 jurors was ordered last week. The jurors in the case were called and sworn. Bell did not appear. His counsel, F. L. Westbrook, said that he had received a letter from his client's son, which stated that the elder Bell was ill and unable to be present. The District Attorney asked for a bench warrant, which was issued, and an officer was sent to serve it upon Bell. The Court took a recess until Tuesday morning.

A PET DOG SETS A HOUSE ON FIRE.

The Canine Pulled a Burning Kerosene Lamp Off the Table.

Last evening while Miss Sarah Masten was in her room in the Masten house on Washington-avenue, near Pearl-street, Kingston, she heard a noise in the kitchen. Upon going to that room she found that a pet dog had pulled a cloth from the table and with it a kerosene lamp, which had been left burning. There was a big blaze. The wood-work had ignited and the flames had mounted towards the ceiling. Miss Masten and her sister were alone. They threw flour upon the burning oil and then gave an alarm, which brought several men to the scene. The fire was extinguished.

THE BODY OF MISSING MAN FOUND.

Had Not Been Seen Since February 20—Discovered in Water.

On Thursday, February 29, Frederick McFarland, of Bovina, Delaware County, a well-to-do farmer, was in Delhi to serve as one of the Grand Jurors during the term of Court then in session there. On the afternoon of that day he disappeared and no trace could be found of him. Sunday morning a man while walking across a bridge about a mile below the village of Delhi discovered McFarland's body in the water. It is believed that while in a despondent frame of mind he wandered off and fell or jumped into the river.

Building Nests.

Sewer "Choked Up."

The sewer on the corner of Union-avenue and Mill-street, Rondout, became "choked up" with debris, to day. The water "backed up" and flowed into the cellar of the O'Reilly building, on the north corner, to the depth of about two feet. Goods which were stored in the cellar, were damaged. James Tongue, Jr., estimates his loss at between $200 and $300.

"Made Her Face Laugh."

A Rondout little girl, who attended Sunday School yesterday, was asked by her mother: "Did your teacher smile?" "No," replied the little one, "she made her face laugh."

Ember Days.

The next ember days are the Wednesday, Friday and Saturday after the Feast of Pentecost and are known as the Whitsunday ember days.

Presentation.

William Dedrick, ex-Foreman of Weiner Hose Company, of this City, was presented with a gold Freeman's badge by members of that organization on Friday night.

IN AND OUT OF THE PORT OF RONDOUT.

First Trip of the Night Boats—Arrival and Departure of Tows, Etc.

The propeller J. H. Cordts will leave this port for New-York with a tow, to-night. The barges Richard and George C. Basten are being laden with brick at Hutton's yard, East-Kingston.

The Hudson ferry-boat had the iron rim knocked off one of its wheels, Saturday, by the ice, and was laid up for a time.

George H. Atkins, lately Pursuer of the propeller Newburgh, will be Captain of the propeller Homer Ramsdell this season.

Daniel T. Weed, Newburgh agent of the Newburgh and Albany Day Line steamboats, will retire from the position on April 1.

The Delaware and Hudson Canal boatmen have sent a petition to the officials of the Canal, asking for an increased rate for carrying coal.

The first trips of the steamboats J. H. Tremper and M. Martin, of the Romer & Tremper line, will be made on Monday. The Tremper will leave Newburgh and the Martin will start from Albany.

The steamer "City of Kingston" and the steamboat James W. Hall will begin making regular trips between this City and New-York on Wednesday. On that day the "City of Kingston" will leave Rondout at 6 o'clock p. m., and the James W. Hall will leave New-York at 4 o'clock p. m.

On his last trip, last night, between Rondout and Eddyville, a part of the machinery of the steam passenger yacht Elling Eddyville became broken, incapacitating it for service to-day. The steam yacht Charles A. Scholz, which has been undergoing repairs on McCullen's ways, Sleightburgh, was launched, this forenoon, and placed on the Anderson's route.

The steamboat Norwich left New-York, yesterday morning, with the following boats in tow: Harvest Queen, Merchant, Fenney, G. McGraw, A. B. Kellogg, H. C. Washburn, H. H. Schultz, S. S. Staples, Three Sisters, A. Maines, K. A. Fredericks, boats Craig, H. J. Brant, to Rondout; W. A. Williams, box No. 41, schooners S. A. Ludlum, Nelson, to Staatsburgh.

IN THE FIELD OF SPORTS HEREABOUT.

A Challenge—Organized a Ball Team—Large Woodchuck—Salmon in the Hudson.

There is as yet no talk of forming a base ball club in this City for the coming season. The students of the Cross Seminary, on Golden Hill, have organized a strong base ball nine for the season of 1889.

A woodchuck weighing 15 pounds was killed at Stony Ford, Orange County, one day recently. These animals are usually poor in flesh when spring opens.

The Rifle team of the Fourteenth Separate Company, of this City, have received a challenge from the Rifle Team of Company B, of Albany, to shoot a match. The challenge will probably be accepted.

Myron S. Allen, of this City, formerly a member of the Cleveland Club, of the American Association, said to-day that he has had a number of offers from clubs to play ball, but has refused them. He said he will not play professional ball this season.

[From the Hudson Republican.]

All persons interested in the stocking of the Hudson River in this vicinity with salmon are looking forward with a great deal of interest as to what results they will meet with in taking the fish stock which was put in the river at the rate in which these fish have been developed in the Hudson those returning this season for the third time should weigh about 45 pounds. In all probability salmon will arrive at this point in the River in the middle or the latter part of May. The fishing season will last until August 1. The salmon come from the sea.

THE RECORD OF CITY AMUSEMENTS.

At Liscomb's Opera House To-night—Equine Paradox—American Opera Company.

At the Academy of Music, this evening, Professor Bartholomew's "Equine Paradox" will begin their engagement. There are 24 trained horses and they perform some clever tricks.

At Liscomb's Opera House, Rondout, to-night, Miss Settle Blume, elocutionist, of New-York, and M. S. Crosby, of this City, will take part in an entertainment for the benefit of the Congregation Emanuel. An interesting programme will be rendered.

On Wednesday night, the Lillian Kennedy Company will appear at Liscomb's Opera House, Rondout. This company drew crowded houses the last time it was here. On Thursday night they will give an entertainment in Kingston Opera House.

On Wednesday evening, March 20, the new American Opera Company, consisting of 55 artists, will appear at Kingston Opera House. Gustav Hinrichs, the director, is a well-known conductor, and he will bring a larger opera company than has ever been seen in this City. The orchestra of 20 skilled musicians is highly spoken of, as is also the ballet and chorus. No doubt the opportunity of listening to this company will be embraced by a majority of the music-loving people of Kingston, as it promises to be a rare treat.

IN THE LOCAL FIELD OF INDUSTRY.

Will Soon be Filled in—Large Order for Cuba—Hudson River.

A large order is being filled for Cuba at the Honesdale glass works.

Captain A. Woolsey, late of the propeller Homer Ramsdell, will manage the Ramsdell brickyard at Dennings Point this season.

The work of laying the frames for two new steam floating elevators for the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company was begun "Up the Dock," Rondout, this morning.

The slip in the center of the "Lower Island Dock" of the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company in Rondout, will soon be "filled in." A large apparatus for hoisting and "yarding" coal will be erected there.

People Who are Ill.

Captain Clinton Tremper, of the propeller Dr. D. Kennedy, was taken suddenly ill in Rondout last night. To-day his condition was somewhat improved.

A dispatch from Albany to THE FREEMAN to-day stated: The condition of Dr. John Seawright, ex-Hon. Officer of the Port of New-York, is not improved. He is very weak from hemorrhages of the stomach, caused by internal abscess.

Andrew J. Story, of Kingston, is seriously ill, caused by a stroke of apoplexy. Mr. Story is well known throughout Ulster County, having held important offices. He was Superintendent of the Poor, 1861-'64, and County Treasurer in 1875.

The Coal Production.

There are now 430,281 tons of coal piled on the Delaware & Hudson docks in Honesdale.

The coal production of the Delaware & Hudson Canal Company this year is 673,006 tons, a loss of 229,175 tons, as compared with the corresponding date of 1888.

The Delaware & Hudson Canal Company shipped from Honesdale, by the Erie, during February, 62,468 tons of coal, and since the first of January, 143,911 tons. Total shipment by the company from all points, for the season, 609,171 tons; during the past month, 268,556 tons.

Affairs of Local Railroads.

Jones Mountain Railroad, at Hudson, was formally opened on Saturday afternoon.

It was so dry along the Walkill Valley Railroad last week that fences and grass were set on fire by locomotive sparks.

In Honor of St. Patrick.

About 300 Port-Evgen young men paraded on horseback, to-day, in honor of St. Patrick. The horses were decorated with green ribbons.

IRISH WIT AND HUMOR DEPICTED.

Stories Told by the Rev. S. Gifford Nelson, Recently.

The Rev. S. Gifford Nelson, of Trinity Church, Brooklyn, in illustrating traits of Irish wit and humor during his recent lecture in the Wurts-Street Baptist Church, Rondout, told the following stories:

An Irishman meeting a man from Dublin said: "Isn't your name Welch?" "On being told it was not he replied: 'Troth, and I be acquainted with two old malids there and I beought mesilf one o' them might be your mother.'"

An English tourist on a jaunting car in Dublin during a severe rain asked his Irish driver if it did not make him uncomfortable to be so wet. The rejoinder was: "It's not the bayin' wet as affects me as the bayin' so moighty dry."

An Irishman came to his physician one day howling with pain and said: "Oh, Doctor, O'ive swallowed a petty bug." "My good man, that's nothing. The bug is all right." "Sure he may be," said Pat, "but its misilf that ain't all right for O' swallied a teaspoonful of wake prairie green to kill the petty bug."

"An Irish sailor on a British man-of-war, while aloft, fell from the cross-trees on top of a Lieutenant on the deck. This, while breaking the officer's neck. As soon as the Lieutenant got again on his feet he said: 'Pat, Murphy, where the devil did you come from?' Pat doffed his hat and quickly replied: 'From the North of Ireland, yer honor.'"

An Irish sailor employed on a small vessel was not quick to learn the mysteries of navigation. While at the helm he gave him a particular star to steer by. Soon the Captain became aware that the vessel was out of its course and said to the sailor: "Why don't you steer by the star I gave you?" "Whist, now, 'O'ive lost that star, but O'ive found one that's brighter and say to kape me eye upon it."

A belizient Irishman in London, on being brought into the Bow-Street Police Court, charged with assault, was bound over to keep the peace. The Judge said him he was allowed his freedom, but must be careful not to engage in a fight or assault any one. Said Pat: "O' can't fight Englishmen?" "No," said the Judge. "Nor Irishmen?" "No," said Pat. "Then the devil help the first furrier O' mate."

PASTORS, PEOPLES AND CHURCHES.

News Gleaned in the Religious Field in this City and Vicinity.

The Rev. G. Baetz, of the Ellenville Lutheran Church, has resigned. He intends to locate in the West.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the St. James M. E. Church, Kingston, will meet at the residence of Mrs. Brower on Lucas-avenue, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Secretary Crowell, of the Rondout Young Men's Christian Association, assisted by P. B. Warner and others, will conduct services in the Port-Evgen Reformed Church, last evening.

The Hebrew residents of this City yesterday celebrated the Feast of Purim, which recalls to their memory the redemption of the Israelites from the clutches of Haman, as related in the Book of Esther.

During the present year of the New-York Conference, of a membership of 297, seven ministers have died, as follows: The Rev. Messrs. A. Weaver, T. W. Chadwick, E. B. Othman, W. Carter, W. Watsworth, G. S. Hare and J. W. Wood.

The Rev. O. Haviland, Pastor of the St. James M. E. Church, Kingston, preached two able sermons yesterday. His morning subject was "The Christian Illuminated," and his topic for the evening was "The Christian Inevitable," from the text "No weapon that is formed against Thee shall prosper," Isaiah lii:17.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Rondout Young Men's Christian Association will hold a fair in the Association rooms on the afternoon and evening of March 22. The chairman of the several committees are:

HUDSON RIVER RIPPLES BY MAIL, ETC.

News on the East and West Banks of the Hudson and Inland.

Mrs. Mary W. Lockwood, of Newburgh, is 95 years of age.

Three convicts were made insane at Sing Sing last week through lack of employment. John J. Platt, of Poughkeepsie, has been elected President of the Board of Trade of that City.

Bunco steers attempted to defraud Langdon Hoag, of Poughkeepsie, a few days ago, but were unsuccessful.

Frank Taxler, Jr., aged five, had a narrow escape from being killed, at Tarrytown, one day last week, while climbing on a freight car.

A flock of wild geese, numbering 108, flew over Eureka, Sullivan County, recently. The name of the man who counted the geese has not been learned.

Italian architecture is to be seen at Harrison, Westchester County, where the people from Florence and Rome have erected huts of railroad ties, the crevices being filled with mud.

By a blast at the "Flat Rocks," on the road from Rhinebeck to Rhinecliff, one day recently, a stone weighing about 400 pounds was sent into the air. In its descent it took off a portion of the front of a district school house nearby. The pupils had been dismissed in anticipation of the probable effect of the blast.

NOTES ABOUT CURRENT LITERATURE.

"Scribner's Magazine"—"Century"—"Harper's"—"Attractive Number."

Charles Dudley Warner begins his new novel, "A Little Journey in the World," in the April number of Harper's Magazine.

The March Pansy, published by D. Lothrop Company, is an interesting number for children. It is freighted with pictures and stories.

Joseph Jefferson has been engaged for a number of years upon his autobiography, which will soon begin to appear in the Century. It will be an interesting record of a life upon the stage.

Drake's Magazine for March is an attractive number. It opens with "The Old Missions," by Charles F. Lummis. "Customs and Manners of the Apache Women" is vividly portrayed by William H. Carter, U. S. A.

Charles Francis Adams, President of the Union Pacific, will contribute a striking rail road article to the April Scribner, on "Prevention of Strikes." He proposes a plan, which, if carried out, would be almost a revolution in the relations of railroad employer and employees.

Protecting Home Industries.

Thredress worn by Mrs. Harrison at the inauguration ball was a silk brocade woven in New York State. Mrs. Harrison selected the pattern—an Indiana burr-oak leaf—which was made into a design for the weavers to work from by Miss Williamson, of Lafayette, Indiana. The work is said to be most expertly elaborated in an American manufactory. The materials for Mrs. Morton's and Mrs. McKee's ball gowns were woven by the same looms. The pattern on Mrs. McKee's was an Indiana golden-rod, also drawn by Miss Williamson.

Result of a Dog's Bite.

J. C. Potter, of Newburgh, formerly of this City, is suffering severely from a dog bite, received on March 7. He is believed to be suffering from blood-poisoning. Proper attention was not given to the wound at the time it was inflicted.

A Hearing Had.

A hearing was had, to-day, in Ulster Surrogate's Court, Kingston, in the matter of proving the will and testament of Lewis T. Sheely, of the town of Marlborough.

Promised for Tuesday.

PHASES OF THE SEAMY SIDE.

TRAMPS WHO MADE ATTEMPT AT GENERAL JAIL DELIVERY.

Sawed Off an Iron Bar—Arrest of Three Men who Are Alleged to Have Stolen Goods—To Await a Re-Trial—Ball Bond Fixed—The Jail List.

There were 24 prisoners in the Ulster County Jail, Kingston, last night.

The bail of Jacob and Chester Palmer, of Matteawan, indicted for manslaughter in the second degree, is $800.

Frank Rose, whose conviction for burglary has been reversed by the General Term, will probably be brought from Clinton State Prison to the Ulster County Jail, Kingston, to await a retrial.

ATTEMPT AT JAIL DELIVERY.

Two tramps named respectively James Wilson and James Brown, who went away from Rondout to the Ulster County Jail for 30 days. When their term of imprisonment had expired they were discharged. They celebrated the occasion by getting intoxicated. They were arrested and again committed to jail for 30 days by Recorder Hussey. Yesterday Isaac Carman, the jailer, found that they had nearly sawed off one of the iron bars of their cell. This is considered by officers as an "old caper" for tramps, who have only a few weeks to remain, and it is believed some scheme was on foot to attempt a general jail delivery. The sawed bar will be replaced by a new one. Several attempts by other prisoners heretofore have been made to saw the bars of the same window.

TRIO OF ROGUES ARRESTED.

On Sunday Thaddeus Wells, Arthur Short and Sanford Short, of the "Promised Land," Kingston, hired a horse of Peter Hamilton, Rondout, saying they were going to Eddyville. Instead they went to Kingston, where they tied the horse under the shed of the Exchange Hotel. Back of this shed is the office and barn of Pultz's livery stable. They visited this office during the absence of the proprietor, and stole a ticket valued at $10, a hammock, a pool table, a whiskey-broom, etc. The men then started for Kingston. When Pultz became aware of his loss he sent for Officer Abel. Having suspicion of the three men, the officer started after them. Ascertaining along the road that the horse was owned in Rondout, he came to this place, and with Officer Barry and Peter Hamilton found the men at Flatbush. The stolen goods were in the trunk. The men were arrested and locked up in the Ulster County Jail at Kingston. This forenoon Peter Hamilton appeared in Recorder's Court and swore to a complaint against the prisoners. The trio were taken to Saugerties to await answers to charges preferred by Mr. Pultz.

Twenty-five lawyers were accused before the Grand Jury, in New-York, last week, of the crime of "champery." For the benefit of many to whom this offense does not sound familiar, it may be explained that champery is the act of aiding a person in the prosecution of a lawsuit, under an agreement to share in the proceeds of the litigation or to make some profit from it. The defendants in the present case are accused by the railroad company of inciting property owners along the line of the elevated road to sue for damages, and agreeing to draw the legal fees from the expected indemnity. There will be considerable interest to see what becomes of the attempt to indict.

That Diseased Ox Again.

[From the Rhinebeck Gazette.]

For several days past rumors have been flying among the hungry loving gossips, that our respected townsman, William E. Traver, had been guilty of the offense of selling a diseased ox to a Rondout butcher. Mr. Traver had the legal right to make such sale, inasmuch as the purchaser of the ox was made acquainted with its condition, at the time of the sale, and there was no intention by any person that such animal should be slaughtered for any other purpose than to utilize the hide, and other parts, not essential for food. The Grand Jury this week at Poughkeepsie, took this view of the matter, thereby completely vindicating the character of Mr. Traver in every respect.

A Rich Find.

An oysterman at Mamoroneck, Westchester County, recently found a pearl which is valued at $1,000.

Denning.

Captain D. Gillett, of Denning, is again able to sit up after three weeks' confinement in bed with lung and heart troubles.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

HOW TO GET ORCHESTRA CHAIRS.

Any person who is a resident of this City, who first succeeds in doing the new and popular puzzle, called "Pigs in Clover," according to the rule, in 19 seconds from the time of commencement of trial, with five pigs, will be given a first-class orchestra chair, by the American Opera Company on Wednesday evening next. Only three successive trials allowed. This puzzle has been done four times in eight seconds.

The resident who first brings the pigs singly from the pen to the outside ring in 40 seconds will also be given a first-class orchestra chair. Trial puzzle at E. Winter's music store.

This puzzle is the latest craze in New-York, Philadelphia, Boston and other large cities. C. V. DuBois, Manager Kingston Opera House.

A BOOM FOR THE SABBATH.

cerning Postmaster General Wanamaker and his Sunday school work. The sketch not only furnishes the fact that Mr. Wanamaker has aside the cares of office and comes home
to conduct the great Sunday school founded
by him, but brings into clear view the deep
religious nature of the man. It also shows that the wonderful tact and knowledge of
successful merchant of his time is brought to bear in the conduct of the institution to which
he shows the devotion of a father for a beloved child.

Gen. Harrison is also a deeply religious
man, a constant church attendant and wor-
shiper, and a laborer in Sunday school work.
He has carried his religious principles and
practices to Washington. The White House
is closed on Sundays, his business letters remain unopened, he goes to church with his family, and his daughter attests that his life-
maintained. Several members of his Cabinet
in addition to Mr. Wanamaker are church
members and attendants, and share the President's deep and clear-cut religious convictions. There is enough of this element at the head of the government to set a national example of Sunday observance. Politicians
seeking for official favors will be the first to feel the effect. Those who spend the Sabbath in Washington are quite likely to make their attendance at church conspicuous. From them the influence will radiate in a
people who do not mingle in politics, but
who will profit by the lesson that men can be successful and honored and great without
surrendering their convictions to catch the
favor of those who assail Sabbath observance
as a violation of "personal liberty," and sneer
at religion as fit only for women and children. The chief ruler of the country holds an influence over the people more potent than
that of any other man in the nation, and if
that influence is against religion it suffices to demoralize a very large element. David
B. Hill could not have been re-elected last fall if he had not, by executive acts, built up the Sunday-defying saloon into a great political machine and attracted to it thousands who prefer the Sabbath as it was kept by their fathers, but feel
it to be to their interest to be "in the swim."

The new administration is giving a boom
to the Sabbath-bruizing it back to the affections of the American people. Mr.
Wanamaker's example alone has aroused a new interest in the day in Philadelphia, and started thousands to church who had for years either kept the day in an indifferent manner or actually violated the spirit of its observance. We look for good and beautiful results in every part of the country from the example now being set by our rulers at Washington. The people will follow them the more gladly because they know that they are right.

TIRE OF THE SOLID SOUTH.

Roger A. Pryor, ex-Confederate General,
and a noted Southern fire-eater and free
trader in past days, has been talking to the New York Herald concerning the effect of Harrison's administration upon the South.
Gen. Pryor was a faithful Democrat and free
trade apostle in the late campaign, but it is
plain that the election has made an impression upon him. He thinks that if Harrison
will conduct his administration upon two
lines laid down in his inaugural—abstention
from race controversies and firm support of a protective tariff—he will break up the Solid South and attach a very large proportion of
the Southern vote to the Republican party.
He sees but two influences operating against
this tendency, and these are long association
of the people with the Democratic party and
the unwillingness of the leaders to surrender
their hold upon office.

But Gen. Pryor is convinced that the tariff
policy of the Republican party is going to win with the people. "Even in Texas," he
says, "where there are no manufacturers, the
wool interest demands protection. The mineral resources of Virginia, Alabama, Tennessee and other states also demand protection.
Then, too, cotton factories are rapidly
springing up in the cotton states. The combined effect of these influences is to make the Southern people the champions of a protective
policy." And the only reason, says
Gen. Pryor, why the South has remained
with the Democratic party in violation of the tariff convictions of the majority, is the determination to keep the educated white classes in control of the governments in that section. He thinks Gen. Harrison intends to treat this race
issue in a conservative spirit, and attaches
much importance to his ancestral relation
with Virginia. The General declared in conclusion that he was still a Democrat and a Southern man in his views of public policy,
but "did not believe that the disruption of
the Solid South would be of detriment to the Democratic party." Democratic solidarity at
the South had made a solid Republican North. For any loss of votes by the breaking up of the Solid South "the Democratic party would be more than indemnified by an
accession of votes and power in the North."

The victory is half won when Democratic leaders begin to admit that the Solid South is destined to be broken up. It is much more than half won when these same leaders confess that the breaking up would be a good thing for the South. Gen. Pryor still adheres
to the free trade theory, he thinks it a demonstrable doctrine, but he has made the discovery that "other than mere economical interests must operate in the conception of a scheme of public policy." This will certainly fill with disgust our mugwump college professors and other gentlemen of fixed incomes
to whom the paramount question is the price

HOW ONE GIRL DIED.

Annie Cordes, married, but unsupported
by her husband, had earned a miserable living as a concert singer in the low dives of
New York. Last night she was engaged to sing
in Rudolph Stein's place at 36 First-street. She had not been well for some time, but sang in
the same saloon on Saturday night and was kept busy until near daylight yesterday morning. She came back late evening and sang
one or two ballads, and, as one of the other

women in the place remarked, "tried to appear pleasant." Shortly after 7 o'clock she stepped upon the stage again, sang part of a ballad, tottered and tried to walk from the stage, but fell in a faint, while a stream of blood flowed from her nose and mouth. She was carried up stairs
and flung upon a bed. One of the girls asked Stein to get her a doctor, but he answered,
"Oh, let her go to—." She lay on the bed and died to death without an effort having been made to save her life. Stein hurriedly obtained a permit from Coroner Messenger,
who lives near, and had an undertaker's cart
before the door in which to send the body
away without an inquest, when a policeman
saw the cart and entered the place. Stein and
his wife were dishing out beer, seven girls
were alternately singing on the stage, and a blatant musician was pounding a piano.
Stein showed his Coroner's permit to the
policeman, and the body was carted away.
Her husband was notified by telegraph.

Decency turns with disgust from the
poverty that drives women to the dives. But
it stands appalled at the poverty that drives them to death. Stein is an employer of wretched women was a despicable creature
to be shunned. But as one who drives them
punished as a murderer.

MR. WANAMAKER IN SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Yesterday

(Philadelphia correspondence of New York Sun.)

* * * At 2:30, and not a second later, when
the orchestra was just in the middle of a
pretty bit of comic opera with a rattling jig-
gle to it, Mr. Wanamaker stepped upon the stage. * * * After he had swept one of his grim glances over the school, he made a signal to the organist, who played a little overture. Mr. Sweeney and the full band joined
in. Mr. Sweeney leading, with a folded paper
for a baton. * * * All together they sang:
Onward, onward, onward Christian soldier,
Marching, marching, marching, as we war.
After the song there was a long moment of
deep silence, and then, in a clear, rich voice,
the Postmaster-General exclaimed:
"If God be with us, who can be against
us?"

not any man be able to stand before thee all
the days of thy life, as I was with Moses, so I will be with thee; I will not fail thee, nor
forsake thee."

Another silence, and then the organ played
soft and low, and the orchestra joined in slowly,
and at a signal the whole school began to
chant in beautiful unison: "When doubt and conflict weigh me down," with its chorus,
"Nearer, my God, to Thee." The sweet
chant dropped off into silence at last, and
after a moment the Postmaster-General's
ringing voice ejaculated:
"Will God in very deed dwell with men
on the earth?"

The answer came rumbling from the throats
of the male part of the school:
"For thus saith the high and lofty One
that inhabiteth eternity, whose name is holy,
I dwell in the high and holy place, and with
spirit."

The organ played low again for a time, and then drifted into the tune, "The Lord shall comfort Zion." This was broken up into parts, as the first song had been, and when
the infants twittered all alone, "The Lord
shall comfort Zion, He will comfort her waste places, and make her like the garden of the Lord," the Postmaster-General walked along the stage to get nearer them, and handing over listened with a rap look and his clasped
hands held down in front of him until it was over. Then he smiled all over his face, and a pretty young woman back in a
nook out of sight, who played a little organ
and led the singing of the tone, leaned back
in her chair with a relieved look and smiled
too. The little ones seeing from her smile
that they had done well, began to laugh and rustle about in infantile self-complacency.
The Postmaster-General, thought the pretty young woman, thought they were smiling at him, and he smiled more and rubbed his hands, where everybody was glad, because he was glad, and smiled too, so
that the whole situation was very appropriate
tossed back and forth between the gallery of
tenor boys and the soprano gallery of girls:

Joy and gladness, joy and gladness
Shall be found therein,
Thanksgiving and the voice of melody.

"On whom dost thou trust?" was the exclamation with which the Postmaster-General punctuated the stillness that followed
this song, and it was the girls who answered:
"The Lord also was a refuge for the oppressed;
a refuge in times of trouble, and they that know thy name will put their trust in thee, for thou, Lord, hast not forsaken them
that seek thee."

It was the girls, too, who sang with Mr.
Sweeney's full band the next song, "Art Thou in Darkness?"

And who is he that will harm you if ye be followers of that which is good? If ye follow the Postmaster-General when the girls' voices had died away. Two classes in one of the galleries replied shrilly:
"Because thou hast made the Lord, which is my refuge, even my high tower, my habitation. Thou shalt not evil befall thee, neither shall any plague come nigh thy dwelling."
"What must I do to be saved?" called out the Postmaster-General, and the little girls in the infant class sang three verses, with a chorus at the end, which began, "Come with me, the Saviour said," while the rest of the 3,000 people listened and smiled, and the young woman at the infant organ seemed weighed down with awful responsibility. The infant boys had to sing an answer, too, and then several different classes in various parts of the building chanted different appropriate verses.

The Postmaster-General assumed a more conversational tone after this. First he asked the school, one gallery and section at a time,
"Who attended church this morning?" As a fair show of hands followed the question each time it was repeated, he seemed pleased and exclaimed:
"Ah, a great many, a great many; that's good. Sunday school don't take the place of church."

Then he asked each section in turn who had brought Bibles with them. Every one who had held up the book, and the Postmaster-General seemed pleased again. There was a baby in his mother's arms in one of the galleries, and it held up a book, too.
"Why, even the baby up there has its Bible," exclaimed the Postmaster-General, and added, "Bless its little heart," whereat
the mother blushed rosily and petted the infant and fussed over it until it was ready to cry.

The place of the day's lesson was then given by the school and its subject, "Christ's Love for the Young."

"Christ's love," repeated the Postmaster-General. "For the old—no; He loves us all,
but especially the young."

Then the golden text, "Suffer little children," was recited, and the Postmaster-General exclaimed: "That's our text. Once doesn't seem to be enough for such a good one; say it again," and the school said it again.

The school then, rising at the tap of the Postmaster-General's bell, read in concert the Scripture for the day and sang "There is a green hill far away." When this was done the Postmaster-General prayed.
"Blessed Father," he began, "Thou hast put down in Thy book about little children, and how Thou dost like to have them come to Thee. Look upon us to-day, for we have come to Thee, a great number of us—little children, young children, old men and women—but all are little children. We have come to Thee as children in our songs and in our responses, and now we come to Thee as children in our prayers. Receive us; reach out Thy hand to save us, to help us, to lead us also to toward that open gate that leads to eternal summer. Let the same touch that made the little child smile and the mother happy come to us now, that there may be a thousand happy homes in this city to-night
as the result of this gathering."

The whole prayer was as simple and straightforward as this, and was spoken in a low impressive voice.

"What amount was given last Sabbath, and what for?" asked the Postmaster-General
when the prayer was over, and the Treasurer replied that $40.01 had been contributed for the relief of the poor.

"Well, I don't see how many poor people are going to be relieved with $40.01," commented the Postmaster-General, and asked what-to-day's collection was for.

"For the tent mission," replied the Secretary.

"Well, now I don't want the collection for the tent mission to be less than $100,"
said the Postmaster-General, as the collection started around.

To the jingle of dimes and pennies the Postmaster-General read a lot of notices of meetings during the week. * * * When he had finished his notices he tapped his bell,
the curtains of the stage fell together, curtains dropped, and before class rooms, sliding partitions slipped into place, and before the audience in the visitors' gallery was on its feet to go the classes were at their work. Even sooner the Postmaster-General had slipped out and across an open space to the main balcony. Several hundred people were there waiting, and hundreds more followed him.
A thousand people gathered in the opening hymn of the "Superintendent's Bible Class."

LONGFELLOW'S MAIDEN.

who is—
"Standing with reluctant feet,
Where the brook and river meet, Womankind and childhood fleet."

is a type of thousands of young girls who are emerging from the chrysalis stage of their existence, and enter upon their "toes." Nervous, excitable, irritable, stirred by strange, unworkable forces,
within them, each a mystery and heretofore, our girls need the tenderest care, the most loving, patient oversight, and the aid of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription to safely and speedily reach the critical period during which, too many lives, alas, are seen the seeds of disease, forms of diseases peculiar to the female sex. But this book, through its practical and preventive advice, cures them if they have already become victims. Women, who view it to believe, to her family, and to her social station, to be well and strong. Let her then not neglect the sure means of cure. "Favorite Prescription" is a legitimate medicine, carefully compounded by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate organization. It is perfectly vegetable in its composition and perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system.

COMMON AIR.

The breath of life is conveyed to every part of the human frame by means of a system of fine vessels called the bronchial tubes. When these tubes are clogged up by an accumulation of mucus, so that breathing is very difficult, especially after any exertion, a person has the leading symptoms of Asthma or Catarrh.
Besides this the tubes are often reduced to much less than their natural diameter by spasmodic contraction; often nearly suffocating the sufferer.
Whether the case is of long standing or not, Dr. David Kennedy's Cherry Balsam is the most efficacious known remedy. It at once loosens the mucous matter, and causes it to be expectorated by a free and easy cough. The Balsam in such cases should be taken in larger doses than for a common Cough, and no harm is done if some vomiting results. Take particular notice that if the disease is complicated with a dyspeptic state of the stomach Kennedy's Favorite Remedy must be used to correct the digestion. The case must be very severe that will not rapidly improve under this treatment.

CARD OF THANKS.

If the proprietor of Kemp's Balsam should publish a card of thanks, containing expressions of grateful which, come to him daily, from those who have been cured of severe throat and lung troubles by the use of Kemp's Balsam, it would fill a fair-sized book.
How much better to issue all such testimonials, and get a free sample bottle that you may test for yourself its power. Large bottles 50c and $1.00.

TO MY FRIENDS.

As you are well aware that I would not recommend that which I did not believe to be good, I desire to say to all who are in need of good, reliable, family medicine, that I believe one bottle of Sulphur Bitters will do you more good than any other remedy I ever saw.—Rev. Ephraim Smith.

If You Are Sick

With Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, Eruptions, Blood Humors, Kidney Weakness, Constipation, Female Troubles, Fever and Ague, Sleeplessness, Partial Paralysis or Nervous Prostration, use Paine's Celery Compound and be cured. In each of these the cause is mental or physical overwork, anxiety, exposure or malaria, the effect of which is to weaken the nervous system, resulting in one of these diseases. Remove the cause with that great Nerve Tonic and the result will disappear.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

Jas. L. Bowen, Springfield, Mass., writes: "Paine's Celery Compound cannot be excelled as a Nerve Tonic. In my case a single bottle wrought a great change. My nervousness entirely disappeared and with it the resulting affection of the stomach, heart and liver and the whole tone of the system was wonderfully invigorated. I tell my friends, if sick as I have been, Paine's Celery Compound."

HOW WILL IT END?

The Alarming Increase of a Trouble that is Menacing the People of All Classes—It must be Stopped, but How?

The number of prominent men and women who have been dying recently is very large and, strange to say, nearly every one was the victim of one trouble, namely, pneumonia. We hear of these prominent people because they are prominent, but there are thousands who die of this same dreadful disease suddenly and of whom the world never hears.

It is safe to say that during the cold season, fully half of all deaths, arise from pneumonia.

This is a mysterious disease. It comes suddenly and works quickly. It must be taken on the start if at all, and any person who feels a tickling in the throat, a tightness of the chest, a dry cough, difficulty in raising or pain in coughing, should beware!

That very moment is the time to act, and by stimulating the body, healthily throw off the germs of disease before they grow. There is only one certain way by which that can be done, viz: by the use of pure stimulants, and it is now generally admitted that Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is the only reliable form in which pure whiskey is today offered to the public.

This grand and pure compound is not a common whiskey, but a sure and absolute remedy, having more lives preserved by pneumonia, checked more consumption and preserved more health than any other chemical discovery of modern times. It is particularly proved this. Care should be exercised to secure only the genuine, and under no circumstances to take a cheap substitute which is declared to be just as good. Take pneumonia in time, for even if it is checked, unless taken promptly, it may run into consumption.

That very moment is the time to act, and by stimulating the body, healthily throw off the germs of disease before they grow. There is only one certain way by which that can be done, viz: by the use of pure stimulants, and it is now generally admitted that Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is the only reliable form in which pure whiskey is today offered to the public.

This grand and pure compound is not a common whiskey, but a sure and absolute remedy, having more lives preserved by pneumonia, checked more consumption and preserved more health than any other chemical discovery of modern times. It is particularly proved this. Care should be exercised to secure only the genuine, and under no circumstances to take a cheap substitute which is declared to be just as good. Take pneumonia in time, for even if it is checked, unless taken promptly, it may run into consumption.

This is a mysterious disease. It comes suddenly and works quickly. It must be taken on the start if at all, and any person who feels a tickling in the throat, a tightness of the chest, a dry cough, difficulty in raising or pain in coughing, should beware!

SIXTY-SEVEN YEARS AGO.

EVENTS THAT WERE PUBLICLY IN NEWSPAPERS HERE.

Half Stones as Large as Musket Balls, that Fell in the Month of July—Charmed By a Rattlesnake—Perils of the Hudson—Indian Skeletons.

A man living on Fair-street, Kingston, has in his possession a number of newspapers printed in Kingston in 1822. The following events of 67 years ago, taken from the paper, may prove interesting:

"The fast-sailing packet ship Columbia arrived at New-York in 33 days from Liverpool."

"Great events may be expected in March, and war between Russia and the Porte is inevitable."

"Several canals are being cut out in Connecticut. When finished they will aggregate 250 miles and cost $4,000,000. This, for a small state, is certainly cutting out business on a large scale."

The perils of the Hudson River in those days are shown in an item describing how Captain Elting with his sloop experienced a violent gale of wind. "The waves dashed an awful sea, blowing with such violence, that the capsizing of a sloop loaded with flour and pork. He reached the vessel just in time to save the life of a woman by cutting a hole in the cabin with an axe."

"A milk cow has just been sold in New-York for $106. This cow is noted for the abundance and richness of its milk, which has rarely if ever been equalled. It produces the enormous quantity of 20 quarts a day."

"A woman in the northern part of the State threw herself over a precipice 100 feet high. She had set her affections on a young man who had not made a proper return, which was the cause of her death."

"The drawing of the literary lottery was completed last week and the highest prize, $30,000, has been drawn by the State. Cold comfort indeed for the adventurers."

"A French school has been opened in Kingston. The Professor will teach French by sectional divisions, through which if the pupil has passed he becomes a proficient."

"The body of Jane McCrea, who was murdered and scalped in 1777, by a party of Indians at Fort Edward, has been discovered and deposited in a public cemetery. A large concourse of people attended the obsequies."

"One of the bones were decomposed, and the traces of the fatal tomahawk in the skull were still visible."

"While excavating a canal at Jamaica, Long Island, the skeletons of a number of Indians were discovered, and at the head of each was found a bottle of rum, a kettle and a tomahawk. The Indians must have taken place more than a century since. Those who have tasted of the rum state it to be of the most exquisite flavor."

"The Representatives of the House of Congress is composed of lawyers, 97; farmers and planters, 59; merchants, 13; physicians, 11; manufacturers, four; clergymen, one; Total, 139."

A story is told of how a young girl was charmed by a snake. "It was on a warm summer day. She was sent to spread wet clothes on some shrubbery near the house. Her mother conceived that she remained longer than was proper, and when she returned uncoupled at some distance, she called to her several times, but no answer was returned. On approaching, she found her pale and motionless and fixed in an erect posture. The sweat rolled down her brow and her hands were clenched convulsively. A large rattlesnake lay on a log opposite the girl, waving his head from side to side, with his eyes steadfastly on her. The mother instantly started him with a stick, and the moment he made off the girl recovered herself and burst into tears, but was for some time so weak and agitated that she could not walk home."

Innumerable kinds of pigeons have for several weeks past filled the air in all directions. In the woods, about 10 miles from this place, they have occupied a space for nesting, so called nearly 19 miles in length, and from two fives in width; 'all things above, beneath and around' seemed alive with these light winged tenants. Every tree was covered with their nests, frequently 25 or 30 upon one. Gentlemen of this village have been out and after spending two or three hours in the wood returned satiated, and the prospect of a good dinner in the shape of 100 or 200 pigeons. So thick were they that 20 or 30 have in many instances been killed with a single shot."

An item of foreign news is given. A writer in Russia wrote a quarto-volume in favor of liberty and equality. "He was tried for a libel upon the Government, condemned and sentenced to cut his own words. A scaffold was erected in the city and the scaffold was erected. It stood the Czar and the executioner. In the presence of an immense multitude the cover was torn from the book, the margin trimmed from the pages, and the author then forced to chew and swallow the printed leaves."

"A few days before the Fourth of July there was a heavy hail storm. Half the size of a musket ball and some the size of a hen's eggs fell. It came down with such force that it broke the windows of the cabin of a vessel on the river; drove all the passengers inside and completely cut the cable of the Capital City trolley. Such a quantity fell upon the deck, said the person relating this incident, 'that they were obliged to throw it overboard with shovels to keep the vessel from sinking. This hail storm ruined many meadows, killed fowls, beat off large cabbage heads close to the stump, and did great fruit from trees, and did other great damage.'"

Captured by Moonshiners. By Telegram to the Freeman.

PAIKERSBURG, W. Va., March 18.—Detective Baldwin and a posse who went into the hills of Wyoming and McDowell counties to break up a gang of 100 distillers, have been surrounded, and their lives are threatened. The moonshiners' band is made up of noted desperadoes, and for three years they have defied the United States authorities. They were jailed, and it was while attempting to arrest 40 more that the officers were entrapped.

Boulanger's Speech Criticized. By Cable to the Freeman.

PARIS, March 18.—The Conservative Journals declare Boulanger's speech at Tours will not cause any modification in the attitude of the Conservatives. The Republican journals reproach Boulanger for the overtures made by him to the clergy in his speech.

The Republic Française says the speech was an insult to the Republic; and demands that it be answered in some way other than by treating it merely with contempt.

Australa Congratulates Parnell. By Cable to the Freeman.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., March 18.—Many large meetings have been held in the various cities of Australia at which resolutions were adopted congratulating Mr. Parnell on his victory in the matter of the charges made against him by the London Times. Large sums of money were raised at the meetings for the benefit of the Irish cause.

Two Victims of Drunken Brawls. By Telegram to the Freeman.

NEW YORK, March 18.—John Duggan, a laborer, who was shot by William Brennan, a steam fitter, and Benjamin Lucie, who was stabbed by Francisco Montello, died during the night. Both were victims of drunken brawls. The assaults are under arrest.

Steamer Wingate in Port. By Telegram to the Freeman.

NEW YORK, March 18.—The steamer Wingate, from Alexandria, Egypt, before reported disabled off Long Island, has been towed in by the steamer Orinoco.

SPECIAL BUSINESS NOTICES.

"A month ago I was happy" is the declaration of Bryan W. Proctor, the poet. So were lots of other folks, who are now telling people in decided numbers: "Got a toad in my head." But there is still happiness to be secured; a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup will cure any cough or cold.

For a long series of years the manufacturers of Dr. Saxe's Catarrh Remedy, who are thoroughly responsible, financially, as any one can easily ascertain by proper inquiry, have offered, through nearly every newspaper in the land, a handsome reward of $500 for a case of nasal catarrh, no matter how bad, if it is long standing, which they cannot cure. The remedy is sold by all druggists at only 50 cents. It is mild, soothing, cleansing, deodorizing, antiseptic and healing.

A SAFE INVEST

DROWNED IN THE HUDSON.

THE FATE OF TWO YOUNG MEN YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

They Attempted to Row Across the River in an Old Boat Against the Advice of Friends—One Man Rescued—Accident to a Captain.

Men named Layman and Pier, foundrymen employed in New-Hamburgh, were drowned in the Hudson River, midway between New-Hamburgh and Marlborough, yesterday afternoon at about 3 o'clock. There were three men in the party when they left the Marlborough shore, near Hampton, in an old boat for service. Before starting they were advised not to attempt the trip, as the condition of the boat made it unsafe. A strong wind had been blowing nearly all day which created a heavy sea. The men, however, would not be persuaded. When about a half-mile from the west shore the boat capsized, throwing its occupants overboard. The shouts of the men were heard by a man named Lawson, of New-Hamburgh, who went to the rescue in a launch. He succeeded in hauling one of the men into his boat. Before he could turn about the tide had carried the other occupants, Layman and Pier, a long distance from him. About 15 minutes afterwards they sank from sight. They came from New-York and had been employed in the foundry for some time.

ANOTHER ACCIDENT.

Captain Benjamin Wells, of the ferry-boat Transport, while attempting to adjust the iron stop which prevents the cable wheel from turning, at the slip in this city, on Saturday, was struck by the wheel in the breast, thrown a considerable distance and rendered unconscious. The Captain was confined to his residence yesterday on account of his injuries.

CASE IN THE COURT OF SESSIONS.

Defendant Failed to Put in Appearance—Bench Warrant Issued.

The Court of Sessions reconvened, this afternoon, in the Court House, Kingston. Judge Fursman, of Troy, occupied the bench for the purpose of hearing the case of The People vs. Daniel D. Bell. In this case an extra panel of 100 jurors was ordered last week. The jurors in the case were called and sworn. Bell did not appear. His counsel, F. L. Westbrook, said that he had received a letter from his client's son, which stated that the elder Bell was ill and unable to be present. The District Attorney asked for a bench warrant, which was issued, and an officer was sent to serve it upon Bell. The Court took a recess until Tuesday morning.

A PET DOG SETS A HOUSE ON FIRE.

The Canine Pugged a Burning Kerosene Lamp Off the Table.

Last evening while Miss Sarah Masten was in her room in the Masten house on Washington-avenue, near Pearl-street, Kingston, she heard a noise in the kitchen. Upon going to that room she found that a pet dog had pulled a cloth from the table and with it a kerosene lamp, which had been left burning. There was a big blaze. The worst work had been done and the flames had mounted towards the ceiling. Miss Masten and her sister were alone. They threw four upon the burning oil and then gave an alarm, which brought several men to the scene. The fire was extinguished.

THE BODY OF MISSING MAN FOUND.

Had Not Been Seen Since February 20—Discovered in Water.

On Thursday, February 23, Frederick McFarland, of Bovina, Delaware County, a well-to-do farmer, was in Delhi to serve as one of the Grand Jurors during the term of Court then in session there. On the afternoon of that day he disappeared and no trace could be found of him. Sunday morning a man while walking across a bridge about a mile below the village of Delhi, discovered McFarland's body in the water. It is believed that while in a despondent frame of mind he wandered off and fell or jumped into the river.

Building Nests.

Sewer "Choked Up."

The sewer on the corner of Union-avenue and Mill-street, Rondout, became "choked up" with debris, to day. The water "backed up" and flowed into cellar of the O'Reilly building, on the north corner, to the depth of about two feet. Goods which were stored in the cellar, were damaged. James Tongue, Jr., estimates his loss at between $200 and $300.

"Made Her Face Laugh."

A Rondout little girl, who attended Sunday School yesterday, was asked by her mother: "Did you teacher smile?" "No," replied the little one, "she made her face laugh."

IN THE FIELD OF SPORTS HEREABOUT.

A Challenge—Organized a Ball Team—Large Woodchuck—Salmon in the Hudson.

There is as yet no talk of forming a base ball club in this City for the coming season.

The students of the Cross Academy, on Golden Hill, have organized a strong base ball nine for the season of 1889.

A woodchuck weighing 15 pounds was killed at Stony Ford, Orange County, one day recently. These animals are usually poor in flesh when spring opens.

The Rifle team of the Fourteenth Separate Company, of this City, have received a challenge from the Rifle Team of Company B, of Albany, to shoot a match. The challenge will probably be accepted.

Myron S. Allen, of this City, formerly a member of the Cleveland Club, of the American Association, said to-day that he has had a number of offers from clubs to play ball, but has refused them. He said he will not play professional ball this season.

[From the Hudson Reporter.]

All persons interested in the stocking of the Hudson River in this vicinity with salmon are looking forward with a great deal of interest as to what results they will meet with in taking the fish with hook and line this summer. At the rate at which these fish have been developed in the Hudson those returning this season for the third time should weigh about 45 pounds. In all probability salmon will arrive at this point in the River in the middle of the latter part of May. The fishing season will last until August 1. The salmon come from the sea.

THE RECORD OF CITY AMUSEMENTS.

At Liscomb's Opera House To-Night—Equine Paradox—American Opera Company.

At the Academy of Music, this evening, Professor Bartholomew's "Equine Paradox" will begin a week's engagement. There are 24 trained horses and they perform some clever tricks.

At Liscomb's Opera House, Rondout, to-night, Miss Settle Blume, elocutionist of New-York, and Miss S. Crosby, of this City, will take part in an entertainment for the benefit of the Congregation Emanuel. An interesting programme will be rendered.

On Wednesday night, the Lillian Kennedy Company will appear at Liscomb's Opera House, Rondout. The company is entitled "Casey's Troubles." This company drew crowded houses the last time it was here. On Thursday night they will give an entertainment in Kingston Opera House.

On Wednesday evening, March 20, the new American Opera Company, consisting of 85 artists, will appear at Kingston Opera House. Gustav Hinrichs, the director, is a well-known conductor, and he will bring a larger opera company than has ever been seen in this City. The orchestra of 20 skilled musicians is highly spoken of, as is also the ballet and chorus. No doubt the opportunity of listening to this company will be embraced by a majority of the music-loving people of Kingston, as it promises to be a rare treat.

IN THE LOCAL FIELD OF INDUSTRY.

Will Soon be Filled in Large Order for Cuba—Steam Elevators.

A large order is being filled for Cuba at the Honesdale glass works.

In Honor of St. Patrick.

About 30 Port-royal young men paraded on horseback, to-day, in honor of St. Patrick. The horses were decorated with green ribbons.

Stories Told by the Rev. S. Gifford Nelson, Recently.

The Rev. S. Gifford Nelson, of Trinity Church, Brooklyn, in illustrating traits of Irish wit and humor during his recent lecture in the Wurts-Bishop Church, Rondout, told the following stories:

An Irishman meeting a man from Dublin said: "Isn't your name Welch?" On being told that it was not he replied: "Troth, and I be acquainted with two old moids there and I be thought meself one o' them might be your mother."

An English tourist on a jaunting car in Dublin during a storm, rain asked his Irish driver if it did not make him uncomfortable to be so wet. The rejoinder was: "It's not the bayin' wet as affects me as the bayin' so moighty dry."

An Irishman came to his physician one day howling with pain and said: "Oh, Doctor, O've swallowed a peartay, ing." "My good man, that's nothing. The bug is all right." "Sure he may be," said Pat, "but it's meself that ain't all right for O've swallowed a tavspoonful of wake prait green to kill the peartay bug."

"An Irish sailor on a British man-of-war, while aloft on the deck, cross-trees on top of a Lieutenant on the deck. This while breaking the Irishman's fall, came near breaking the officer's neck. As soon as the Lieutenant got again on his feet he said: 'Pat Murphy, where the devil did you come from?' Pat doffed his hat and quickly replied: 'From the North of Ireland, yer honor.'"

An Irish sailor employed on a small vessel was not quick to learn the mysteries of navigation. While at the helm the skipper gave him a particular star to steer by. Soon the Captain became aware that the vessel was out of its course and said to the sailor: "Why don't you steer by the star I gave you?" "Whist, now," said Pat, "O've lost that star, but O've found one that's brighter and say to kape me eye upon."

A bellicose Irishman in London, on being brought into the Bow-Street Police Court, charged with assault, was bound over to keep the peace. The Judge told him he was allowed his freedom, but must be careful not to engage in a fight or assault any one. Said Pat: "O! can't fight Englishmen?" "No," said the Judge. "Nor Irishmen?" "No." "Then the devil help the first furrier O' mate."

NOTES ABOUT CURRENT LITERATURE.

"Scribner's Magazine"—"Century"—"Harpers"—"Attractive Number."

Charles Dudley Warner begins his new novel, "A Little Journey in the World," in the April number of Harpers' Magazine.

The March Voyage, published by D. Lothrop Company, is an interesting number for children. It is freighted with pictures and stories.

Joseph Jefferson has been engaged for a number of years upon his autobiography, which will soon begin to appear in the Century.

Drake's Magazine for March is an attractive number. It opens with "The Old Missions," by Charles F. Lummis. "Customs and Manners of the Apache Women" is vividly portrayed by William H. Carter, U. S. A.

Charles Francis Adams, President of the Union Pacific, will contribute a striking rail road article to the April Scribner.

"Prevention of Strikes," He proposes a plan, which, if carried out, would be almost a revolution in the relations of railroad employer and employees.

Protecting Home Industries.

The dress worn by Mrs. Harrison at the inauguration ball was a silk brocade woven in New York State. Mrs. Harrison selected the pattern—an Indiana burr-oak leaf—which was made into a design for the weavers at the Mill of Miss Williamson, of Lafayette, Indiana. The work was said to be the most elaborate ever done in an American manufactory. The materials for Mrs. Morton's and Mrs. McKee's ball gowns were woven by the same looms. The pattern on Mrs. McKee's was an Indiana golden-rod, also drawn by Miss Williamson.

Result of a Dog's Bite.

TRAMPS WHO MADE ATTEMPT AT GENERAL LIVERY.

Sawed Off an Iron Bar—Arrest of Three Men who are Alleged to Have Stolen Goods—To Await a Re-Trial—Ball Bond Fixed—The Jail List.

There were 24 prisoners in the Ulster County Jail, Kingston, last night.

The bail of Jacob and Chester Palmer, of Mattawan, indicted for manslaughter in the second degree, is $800.

Frank Rose, whose conviction for burglary has been reversed by the General Term, will probably be brought from Clinton State Prison to the Ulster County Jail, Kingston, to await a retrial.

ATTEMPT AT JAIL DELIVERY.

Two tramps named respectively Daney Wilson and Daniel Hanson, were sent last winter from Rosendale to the Ulster County Jail for 30 days. When their term of imprisonment had expired they were discharged. They celebrated the occasion by getting intoxicated. They were arrested and again committed to jail for 30 days by Recorder Hussey. Yesterday Isaac Carman, the jailer, found that they had nearly sawed off one of the iron bars of their cell. This is considered by officers as an "odd caper" for tramps, who have only a few weeks to remain in a general jail delivery. The sawed bar will be replaced by a new one. Several attempts by other prisoners heretofore have been made to saw the bars of the same window.

TRIO OF ROGUES ARRESTED.

On Sunday Thaddeus Wells, Arthur Short and Sanford Short, of the "Promised Land," Kingston, hired a team of Peter Hamilton, Rondout, saying they were going to Eddyville. Instead they went to Saugerties. While there they tied the horse under the shed of the Exchange Hotel. Back of this shed is the office and barn of Pultz's livery stable. They visited this office, in the absence of the proprietor, and stole a blanket valued at $10, a hammock, a pool table sheet, a whisk broom, etc. The men then started for Kingston. When Pultz became aware of his loss he sent for Officer Abel. Having suspicion of the three men, the officer started after them. Ascertaining along the road that the horse was owned in Rondout, he came to this place, and with Officer Barry and Peter Hamilton found the men at Flatbush. The stolen goods were in the wagon. The men were arrested and locked up in the Ulster County Jail at Kingston. This forenoon Peter Hamilton appeared in Recorder's Court and swore to a complaint against the prisoners. The trio were taken to Saugerties to-day to answer to charges preferred by Mr. Pultz.

Twenty-five lawyers were accused before the Grand Jury, in New-York, last week, of the crime of "champery." For the benefit of many to whom this offense does not sound familiar, it may be explained that champery is the act of aiding a person in the prosecution of a lawsuit, under an agreement to make some profit from it. The defendants in the present case are accused by the railroad company of inciting property owners along the line of the elevated road to sue for damages, and agreeing to draw the legal fees from the expected indemnity. There will be considerable interest to see what becomes of the attempt to indict.

That Disposed Of Again.

For several days past rumors have been flying among the hungry loving gossips, that our respected townsman, William E. Traver, had been guilty of the offense of selling a diseased ox to a Rondout butcher. Mr. Traver had the legal right to make such sale, inasmuch as the purchaser of the ox was made acquainted with its condition, at the time of the sale, and there was no intention by any person that animal should be slaughtered for any other purpose than to utilize the hide, and other parts, not essential for food. The Grand Jury this week at Poughkeepsie, took this view of the matter, thereby completely vindicating the character of Mr. Traver in every respect.

A Rich Find.

An oysterman at Mamaroneck, Westchester County, recently found a pearl which is valued at $1,000.

Denning.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

HOW TO GET ORCHESTRA CHAIRS.

Any person who is a resident of this City, who first succeeds in doing the new and popular puzzle, called "Pigs in Clover," according to the rule, in 19 seconds from the time of commencement of trial, with five pigs, will be given a first-class orchestra chair for the American Opera Company on Wednesday evening next. One of three successive trials allowed. This puzzle has been done with four pigs in eight seconds.

The resident who first brings the pigs singly from the pen to the outside ring in 40 seconds will also be given a first-class orchestra chair. Trial puzzle at E. Winter's music store.

This puzzle is the latest craze in New-York, Philadelphia, Boston and other large cities.
